Chinese Again Open Floodgates Of Dam To Create Floods

By LEE FERRERO
(I. N. S. War Correspondent)

TOKYO, April 19.—A series of drenching rainstorms cut Allied air operations to near zero today and heightened the effect of a man-made flood behind United Nations lines in Korea.

The new flood threat came from the vast Hwachon dam, which UN troops captured to find Communist forces for the second time had opened its floodgates in an attempt to disrupt the Allied supply lines below Parallel 38.

Planes Largely Inactive

The Fifth Air Force reported the torential rains cut its operations to a mere 20 sorties, less than two per cent of the number mounted at the height of the current Allied offensive into North Korea.

The Eighth Army's evening communique released at 8 p.m. (6 a.m. EST) reported that despite their handicaps the UN forces "continued to make limited gains against decreasing resistance.

The rains and the new Pukhan river man-made torrent descended on a valley already soggy from an earlier opening of the dam's flood gates.

The Reds are believed to be awaiting the full-fledged coming of Korea's rainy season, of which today's rains may be the forerunner, to launch their expected 780,000-man offensive.

South of Hwachon dam the Allies routed stubborn enemy troops with two slashing bayonet charges.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Workmen have placed a number of "No Parking" signs on South Crawford avenue, from County Line to East Main street in order to facilitate movement of traffic in that section. The signs are on the east side of the street and aid in the movement of city buses over that thoroughfare which are sometimes blocked due to careless parking habits of motorists.

Two large new boats being transported through the city eastward this morning is another indication that spring weather is here and winter is left behind. The fishing boats were heading for eastern water where they will be placed in service.

Cascade street, leading to Flaherty field was receiving a "dressing up" this morning by city street employes. The dirt street, like many others about the city, has become quite bumpy due to the hard winter the district has just gone through.

Pa Newc notes that a number of the oldest east side residences, some of which have lain idle for awhile are being cleaned up and remodeled for occupancy in the near future. Young couples in most instances are seen busily working about the properties to make them livable.

Secretary Acheson Hurls Blast At Gen. MacArthur

By GEORGE MOISE

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur was greeted in Washington today by a blast from Secretary of State Acheson and the warm endorsement of Senate GOP policy leader Taft.

Acheson told the Women's National Press Club that the war must be confined to Korea, and that any responsibility for widening it "will rest squarely upon the Kremlin and its agents in Peiping."

The secretary blasted as "an extreme view" the theory, advocated by MacArthur, "that the struggle can be ended only by widening the hostilities with the attendant risks, and that any willingness to settle the problems of Korea by peaceful means is tantamount to appeasement."

Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, in a speech before the Daughters of the American Revolution, declared that the War Threat Is Imminent

So Declares New Far East Commander

SENDAI, Japan, April 19.—(INS)—Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today "there is an imminent threat of war" and that no one knows "when the chips will be down".

The new United Nations supreme commander, who replaced Gen. Douglas MacArthur on President Truman's orders, told soldiers of the newly-arrived 40th Division that:

"There is an imminent threat of war that can be unleashed at the time, place and choosing of others."

The California National Guard outfit also heard Assistant Secretary of War Earl Johnson describe the shakeup in the supreme command as "democracy in action".

Hitler's Yacht To Be Made Into Scrap

JERSEY CITY, N. J., April 19.—The 476-foot yacht on which Adolf Hitler dreamed of world conquest was tied up at a Jersey City dock today, to be broken up into scrap.

The $4,000,000 Grille (German for "whim" or "caprice") was presented to Hitler by the German people in 1935.

The yacht, captured by the British while serving as a mother ship for German U-boats during World War II, was bought by the North American Smelting company for "well over $100,000".

School Survey For New Castle Is Completed

Report Of Needs Is Made To Board Wednesday Night

New Castle Board of School Directors now has a complete picture of the public school building needs in this city.

At the meeting of the board held Wednesday night, Lauren H. Thayer, of the Thayer Company, architects, presented his final report in the school survey he was authorized to make some six months ago.

Shows Condition

The survey is an exhaustive one and represents six months painstaking work. It shows the condition of the present buildings, the population trends, the sites indicated best for new schools and what buildings would be needed if the New Castle school plant were modernized.

The survey contains suggestions rather than recomendations. It points out what is needed but leaves the decision as to what will be done entirely with the school board.

Seven elemntary school zones in the city are shown in the survey. The seven districts shown are the Arthur McGill district, Highland Avenue, Rose Avenue, Lincoln-

Sen. Vandenberg Of Michigan Is Taken By Death

Republican Leader Dies In Sleep At Grand Rapids Home

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 19. — (INS) — The nation today mourned the death of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican leader who abandoned earlier isolationist views to become a staunch internationalist and co-author of the bipartisan foreign policy.

The senior Michigan senator died in his sleep last night at his Grand Rapids home. He was 67 and had been ill since October, 1949, when he underwent the first of a series of lung operations.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at the Park Congregational church in Grand Rapids. Vandenberg's body will lie in state Saturday morning at the church chapel, which was built partially by funds he gave in memory of his mother.

Arthur H. Vandenberg, Jr., son of the senator, issued the following statement after his father's death:

"Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg passed away peacefully in his sleep tonight in his residence.

"Complications of a long illness following major surgey resulted in his death. Members of his immediate family were at his bedside when the end came."

May Name Democrat

There was no immediate word from Gov. G. Mennen Williams as to the appointment of a successor for Vandenberg, but the governor is expected to name a Democrat to serve the GOP leader's unexpired term.

Vandenberg's life was in the Horatio Alger tradition. He was born in Grand Rapids March 22, 1884. At nine he was a poverty-stricken newsboy for the Grand Rapids Herald. At 22 he was its editor and Publisher.

He was active in Republican affairs from 1912 but did not hold a public office until he was appointed to fill the unexpired senatorial term in 1928. He was re-elected in 1934, 1940 and 1946.

Vandenberg's wife died only last June, also after a long illness.

At his bedside when he died were his three children, Arthur H. Vandenberg, Jr., Mrs. John Bailey and Mrs. Elizabeth Pfeiffer.

Sunken Sub Still Hunted

Scant Hope Held For 75 Men Aboard

PORTSMOUTH, England, April 19.—(INS)—The sea bottom southwest of the Isle of Wight was swept today with chains and wire nets in a last desperate effort to locate the British submarine Affray.

Little hope was held that any of the 75 officers and men trapped in the steel tomb under 200 feet of water can be saved.

Five minesweepers and a motor fishing vessel were engaged in the operation. It is a laborious but thorough method and admittedly amounts to a last resort in rescue operations.

The Admiralty said grimly prior to the announcement of sweeping operations that there were no new developments to raise hopes that the Affray would be found "during a time in which men aboard may still be alive."

Belief grew that an internal explosion may have caused the Affray to overturn when it hit the bottom, making it impossible for men aboard to operate escape hatches or release any marker buoys.

Paul Revere Rides Again

BOSTON, April 19. — (INS) — Paul Revere rode again in Boston today in reenactment of the famed ride of 1775.

The occasion was patriot5s day in Boston, marked also by the traditional parade from City Hall to Paul Revere's grave in the Old Granary burial ground.

In today's ceremonies, Paul Revere was impersonated by James F. Carney of the National Lancers. Another member of the Lancers, Joseph A. Fagan, portrayed William Dawes, Jr. The two horsemen re-traced the routes followed by the two Revolutionary War patriots when they rode out to alert the countryside against the British 176 years ago.

New York Prepares For Tribute To MacArthur

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

NEW YORK, April 19.—General Douglas MacArthur returns tonight to New York and five million citizens are expected to blow the lid off the greatest official welcome in the city's history.

The five-star general gave approval by long distance telephone to celebration plans outlined by Grover Whalen, New York's official greeter. He made only one request—that on arrival he and his family be permitted privacy so they may rest in the presidential suite at the Waldorf Towers where they will stay for the next three weeks.

To Arrive Tonight

Whalen and his staff worked through the night preparing for the celebration, which will be touched off when the silvery Constelaltion the Bataan puts her wheels down at International Airport tonight.

Friday is MacArthur day in New York by official proclamation and officials predicted an outpouring of people exceeding by far receptions accorded General MacArthur in San Francisco or Washington.

Whalen said, "it's the biggest thing we've ever done. It will beat the Lindbergh and Eisenhower shows. The crowd will easily top five million."

This would be one million more than ever took part before in one of the city's gigantic receptions to a national hero.

Public Barred at Airport

Many Cities Battle Flood

Thousands Facing Flood Conditions Along Mississippi

(By International News Service)

A 70-year record flood crest roared downstream on the Mississippi today toward Dubuque, Ia., and Rock Island, Ill., threatening additional thousands of lowlands residents along the mighty river.

Red Cross and volunteer crews worked feverishly to sandbag rain-soaked leves against the expected onslaught.

Further north, the Wisconsin cities of LaCrosse and Prairie Du Chien battled to hold back the flood waters. More than 400 families have been evacuated from their homes in the two towns.

The river, which crested at an all-time high of 17.4 feet yesterday at Winona, Minn., has reaced the 19.7 foot stage at Prairie Du Chien and is expected to crest there today.

Robert C. Edson, disaster service director for the 16-state midwest area, said the Red Cross is sending emergency crews to Galena and Moline, Ill., Dubuque and Clinton, Ia., and St. Louis.

Flood damage in the lower Minnesota area is established at between three and six million dollars.

Two Young Boys Burned To Death

U.N. Considers Sanctions Use Against China

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 19—The United Nations was urged today to give priority to the use of economic sanctions against Red China in retaliation for its continued resistance against U. N. forces in Korea.

A special five-member group of the 12-nation special sanctions committee agreed unanimously to recommend the study of economic steps against the Peiping regime in line with U. N. efforts to discourage aggression in Korea.

The recommendation is slated for attention by the sanctions committee, which has not met for several weeks pending preliminary studies by the sub-group. The committee is to be differentiated from the 14-nation collective measures committee set up under the Acheson plan for united action against aggression.

The development came amidst current soundings at U. N. to determine the true meaning of the recent North Korean "peace offer" to U. N. The communist feeler, which was devoted mainly to attacks on the U. S., demanded a settlement of the Korean conflict on the basis of unnamed decisions reached at the left-wing world peace conference in Berlin last February.

Reporters' Plane Arrives Ahead Of Gen. MacArthur's

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's "Bataan" lost the first decision of its career last night.

An American Airlines DC-6B, carrying 20 reporters who had covered MacArthur's triumphant San Francisco welcome earlier in the day, handily out-raced the swift "Bataan" to Washington to greet the general there.

It was a record-setting flight for the reporters, whose appearance at the bottom of the steps of MacArthur's Constellation startled and pleased him as he alighted to receive the acclaim of Washington.

State Income Tax Bill Gets House Approval

Measure Adopted In House By 109-97 Vote; Now Goes To Senate

HARRISBURG, April 19.—(INS)—Gov. John S. Fine's controversial one half of one per cent income tax proposal today was at the halfway mark in the General Assembly.

Both House and Senate adjourned yesterday.

The fight over the much-debated measure shifted to the Senate after the House finally approved the bill 109-97 when it appeared the second time around.

There was no indication when the measure will be reported by the Senate Finance Committee for floor action although Fine expressed confidence the administration will win the final round.

"I think it will pass the Senate without question," the governor declared.

He said he has not counted Senators favoring the bill and refused to predict when the upper chamber will take up the proposal.

Need 26 Votes

It is believed Senate Republican leaders will hold off calling the bill from committee until it is certin they have in hand the necessary 26 votes for passage. At least six GOP Senators openly announced opposition to the tax shortly after the governor in his budget message recommended the

General Says Red Threat Is Global Issue

Gen. MacArthur Gives His Program For Action In Far East

By BOB CONSIDINE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Gen. MacArthur told Congress today that his views calling for a blockade of Red China, use of Nationalist Chinese forces and reconnaissance over Manchuria were "fully shared" by the joint chiefs of staff.

MacArthur said that for entertaining his views designed to end the Korean conflict "I have been severely criticized in lay circles — principally abroad — despite my understanding that my views are fully shared by practically every military leader, including the joint chiefs of staff."

The ousted Far East commander told the legislators and the world by television and radio that the Nationalist Chinese government on Formosa "has had an opportunity to refute by action much of the malicious gossip that so undermined the strength of its leadership on the Chinese mainland."

Referring to President Truman's decision to move troops into Korea, MacArthur said: "that decision from a military standpoint proved a sound one."

Called for New Decisions

He said that "with our victory complete" against North Korea, Red China moved its troops into Korea in overwhelming numbers and created a "new situation."

He said this called for new decisions "but they were not forthcoming."

MacArthur said he was convinced that steps had to be taken to eliminate the "sanctuary given the enemy north of the Yalu river."

As a result, he proposed:

1. Intensification of the economic blockade of Red China.

2. A naval blockade of Red China.

3. Removal of restrictions on aerial reconnaissance of coastal China areas and Manchuria.

4. Removal of restrictions on the Republican China forces on Formosa with logistical support to them against the common enemy.

Formosa Must Never Fall To Reds

MacArthur said that Formosa must never fall under Communist control.

He said he proposed these steps to "end the war with the least possible delay" and to save human lives.

Then he brought the crowded chamber to its feet in a rising shouting ovation when he added:

"My views were shared by every military leader or renown including our own joint chiefs of staff."

In opening his address before the joint meeting in the remodeled house chamber where every seat was taken, the general said that

Gen. MacArthur To Make Visit To Chicago Soon

WASHINGTON, April 19—(INS) — Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney held a news conference today on behalf of Gen. MacArthur and announced that MacArthur's address to Congress would be "a general review of the Far Eastern situation with particular emphasis on the Korean campaign."

Whitney said that the general has not completed work on his speech and may speak partly off the cuff at the joint meeting at 12:30 p.m. (EST). He said MacArthur "may go back a half century" in presenting his views.

No Truman Appointment

Whitney also said that MacArthur has "no plans for asking for a White House appointment" and said that he has received no invitation from President Truman.

The spokesman for the general also reported that while MacArthur has no definite plans after his appearance in New York today and tomorrow, he plans to go next week to Chicago where he probably will make a short informal speech.

Whitney said MacArthur will appear in Chicago upon the invitation of Governor Adlai Stevenson and Mayor Kennelly.

The aide also reported that the general plans to go to Milwaukee sometime in the near future and also visit Murfreesboro, Tenn., at the request of his wife who is a native of the Tennessee City.

U. S. "should use the assistance of all our friends, such as the Chinese Nationalists, and should not hesitate to bomb Chinese communications, airports and armies if that becomes necessary to win the war in Korea."

One of the reasons MacArthur was removed from all his commands was his advocacy of use of Chinese Nationalists and bombing Manchuria.

Acheson's Warning

Acheson asserted:

"The present dramatic realities of the Korean conflict may blind us to the less obvious, but no less critical problems of the Near East and western portions of our global problems."

The secretary also said that the new Pacific pact—a mutual defense agreement with Australia, New Zealand, plus armed aid to the Philippines in event of attack and permanent U. S. forces in the Ryukyu islands—is not the final answer to security in the Pacific.

Acheson said that the pact would not interfere with any "broader arrangements as the ntaions in the area might wish to develop."

Touching on the world situation, Taft repeated his plea for concentration on air and naval forces, rather than use of ground troops in danger areas.

Taft said:

"Our military buildup and our efforts in Greece and Turkey are and have been a threat and a deterrent to Soviet Russia—but land operations either in Europe or Asia, are very dangerous and dubious undertakings for the United States."

SCHOOL SURVEY FOR NEW CASTLE COMPLETE

Garfield, Pollock, Thaddeus Stevens, Oak Street, Croton, West Side, Grant Street, and Mahoning.

Suggested Schools

The following school building needs are shown by the survey. A new building to replace the present Lincoln-Garfield, Pollock, and Thaddeus Stevens schools. The estimated cost of such a building is $1,100,000. A new building to replace the present Oak Street and Croton buildings, estimated to cost $700,000.

A building to replace the present West Side school, to serve the West Side and Grant Street districts, with perhaps some of the North Street school population attending there, at an estimated cost of $500,000.

In addition the following expenditures are shown in the survey for improvements and additions.

Acquisition of site and physical education building to contain health facilities at senior high school, $70,000. Alterations to senior high to include proper stair towers and other needed improvements, $100,000.

Changes at McGill and Highland schools, $75,000. New lighting and maintenance at these schools, $25,000. Mahoning school alterations, $300,000. Mechanical changes at George Washington junior high school, $25,000.

Maintenance and improvement of Cafeteria at Benjamin Franklin junior high school, $35,000. Addition to cafeteria, music room and other improvements at senior high school, $400,000.

Total $3,960,000

The money needed to completely modernize the public school system is shown to be $3,960,000. This includes architectural fees, equipment and certain allocations for site acquisition.

Five methods of financing such a program are shown. One, issue bonds; two, apply to the State Public School Building Authority for financing; three, creation of a local school building authority, whose function would be similar to that of a state authority; four, increase assessments to raise sufficient money to put the program on a pay-as-you-go basis; five, build a portion of the program.

The bond potential as of July 1, 1952, is shown as follows Assessed valuation, $51,563,590. Bonding power (7 per cent of valuation), $3,609,450. Outstanding bonds, $683,000. Balance, $2,926,450. Building fund, $40,000. Total, $2,967,450. Bonds to mature in 1951 and 1952, $130,000. Total available financing power, $3,098,450.

The board took the final survey draft and expressed its appreciation of a thorough job. The acceptance of the survey carried no commitments of any kind. It merely gives the New Castle Board of School Directors a working plan which will now be studied as to feasibility within the financial possibility of the city.

The motion of acceptance also carried with it the authorization to place copies of the survey in the office of Secrtary John B. Bechtol where the public can see them and inspect them.

STATE INCOME TAX BILL GETS HOUSE APPROVAL

wage levy as a means of picking up 119 million dollars of the 163 million in new money he said is necessary for his $1,200,000,000 1951-53 budget.

The 20 Democratic Senators are expected to vote as a bloc against the bill.

The other 44 million dollars will be collected from corporate net income tax which the governor requested be increased from four to five per cent.

Another Bill Recommitted

A bill authorizing the corporate tax boost was recommitted to the House Ways and Means committee yesterday after approval of the income tax. It will remain there, according to House Majority Leader Charles C. Smith, until the Senate passes the income tax.

The vote was tipped in favor of the wage tax bill when seven Republicans and one Democrat switched their votes. All had previously voted against it.

The income tax was beaten down 105-101 April 4 by a combination of 19 dissident Republicans and the 86-member Democratic bloc. A parliamentary maneuver restored it to the working calendar.

The seven Republicans who returned to the fold were made up of four from the five-man Schuylkill county delegation and three from sctatered counties.

son Arthur and the general's aides, arrives from Washington at about 7:30 p.m. However, hundreds of flag-waving spectators are expected to line the route from the airport to the Waldorf in mid-Manhattan.

New York bedecked itself in flags, bunting and pictures of the hero of Bataan. Mayor Vincent Impellitteri directed city department heads to give time off to as many of the 173,000 municipal employes as possible to permit them to join in Friday's reception. He appealed to private employers to do likewise.

Fifty thousand public school children and 20,000 Catholic parochial school children were told they would have Friday off to enable them to join in the celebration.

6,000 Police on Parade Route

The utmost precaution will be taken by police to insure General MacArthur's safety. Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy cancelled all leaves for Friday and assigned an estimated 6,000 policemen to the parade route.

General MacArthur's arrival at the airport will be heralded by a 17-gun salute. The weather bureau said there is a possibility of showers at the time of his arival tonight.

Television networks said that about 43,000,000 persons are expected to see the parade and ceremonies over TV.

In honor of General MacArthur the New York Stock Exchange will suspend trading for two hours Friday. The last time this was done was on June 19, 1945, when General Dwight D. Eisenhower returned from Europe.

Some motorists who were in a hurry to attach their 1951 license plates at the last minute are going to lose the plates unless bolts attaching them to the cars are tightened up. Pa Newc has observed some of the plates hanging by just one bolt and ready to drop to the street.

Large Buck Killed Today On Route 224

Another highway "fatality" resulted in a huge 160 pound buck being felled this morning on Route 224, between Hillville and Edenburg, by an unknown driver.

At 6:20 o'clock this morning, Thomas Robb, bus driver for the Bessemer-Hillsville Bus company was enroute to New Castle on his early morning run, when he noticed the buck (minus horns) lying a few feet from the highway.

The buck was struck on one side of the head and shoulder and apparently died instantly. It is probable that the animal ran into the side of a trailer, for it did not have any broken legs which would discount the probability of it being hit head-on by a motorist.

Mr. Robb, contacted the game warden, Francis Cracraft of Hillsville, who said that he would dress the buck and send the meat to the Margaret Henry home. This was done about 7:30 o'clock this morning.

LADIES OF KIWANIS HEAR W. C. McBURNEY

W. Craig McBurney was the featured speaker when members of the Lades of Kiwanis met Wednesday afternoon at The Castleton hotel. A luncheon was enjoyed at one o'clock in the harvest room, with arrangements of African violets gracing the table for the occasion.

Mrs. A. H. Mellor, president, conducted a brief business meeting. Mr. McBurney, who is associated with the art department of the Shenango Pottery company, was introduced by Mrs. Sam Lewis. He entertained the members with his interesting talk on the historical setting of designs, stressing the fact that the sales resistance to poor designs will evnteually eliminate them. Mr. McBurney displayed sketches used at the pottery and showed dishes in several of the newer patterns.

On May 16 the members will gather at The Castleton hotel, with Rabbi Iwan Gruen to review the popular book, "The Disenchanted", Schulberg.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY PARTY IS SUCCESSFUL

An unusual beautiful African violet booth and homemade novelities booth were featured at a delightful social party sponsored by the New Castle hospital Auxiliary on Wednesday evening.

Held in the nurses home of the New Castle hospital, one of the largest crowds ever to attend, gathered for an evening of informal pastimes.

Tables of 500, bridge and contests were in play early in the evening. Lovely prizes were awarded to the winners at the close of play.

A delicious lunch was served afterwards with the general chairman, Mrs. Carl Sewald, and co-chairman, Mrs. Edwin Willmarth in charge of arrangements.

Aides who assisted the co-chairman included: Mrs. Mary Heaney and Mrs. Marie Campbell who were in charge of the candy booths; Mrs. Joseph McCarthy and Mrs. Joseph Bingham in charge of the homemade novelities; and Miss Irene Mitchell in charge of the African violet booths.

Miss Mary T. Rocks was the bridge chairman. Mrs. Russell Fitch was the 500 chairman and Mrs. Jessie Stenger was in charge of the contests.

Every year the New Castle hospital Auxiliary sponsors an informal social party. Last evening's event proved so successful that a tentative discussion was held to have the parties more than once a year.

Mrs. William Strawbridge, president of the auxiliary, heartily commended the two co-chairmen and all the aides who worked so hard in making the party entertaining and successful.

RINGER-MORROW EVENING WEDDING

First Baptist church was the scene of a beautiful candlelight wedding Tuesday evening, April 17, when Miss Doris Mae Ringer, daughter of Mrs. Paul J. Ringer and the late Paul J. Ringer of 919 Warren avenue, became the bride of Cpl. Elmer Charles Morrow of Harlansburg.

The young couple exchanged vows at 7:30 p. m. before an altar embanked with palms, ferns, white snapdragons and double candelabra. Dr. Will Gordon officiated at the double ring ceremony before a large assemblage of friends and relatives.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, George Ringer, was lovely in a street-length dress of white marquisette, with matching mitts. Her hat was a crownless Juliet cap caught with a short white veil. She carried a modern colonial bouquet of white roses and stephanotis. Her jewelry consistted of a lavaliere, gift of the groom.

Mrs. James R. McCann, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and was becomingly attired in a street-length dress of dusty rose, which was compilmented by navy blue accessories. Her bouquet, similar to the bride's consisted of yellow roses.

James R. McCann served the groom as best man, and Jack Morrow, brother of the groom, and Wilbur Rodgers were ushers.

Miss Doris Patterson, soloist, sang "Through the Years", "Because" and the "Wedding Prayer", accompanied at the organ by Mrs. W. H. Luikhart, who played a recital of nuptial music preceding the ceremony.

Immediately following there was a reception in the church dining room for approximately 200 guests. Mrs. Ernest Carr and Mrs. Jack Morrow poured.

The newlyweds then left on a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, and upon their return will reside at theh home of the bride's mother at 919 Warren avenue.

Mrs. Morrow is a graduate of New Castle senior high school and is employed as an operator by the Bell Telephone company.

Cpl. Morrow is a graduate of the East Brook high school, and was a senior at Slippery Rock State Teachers college until his recent induction into the armed services as a reservist. He was just graduated from the army finance finance school at St. Louis, Mo., and upon completion of his furlough will report to Camp Meade, Md.

RAINBOW HONORS GRAND OFFICERS

As a means of honoring the supreme and grand officers of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls, the six assemblies of District 2-A, of which Mrs. Beatrice Myers of Beaver Falls is sub-deputy, gathered in the Cathedral Wednesday evening with New Castle Assembly No. 1 as host.

Mrs. Myers was assisted in the arrangements for the lovely meeting by the mother advisors, worthy advisors and general committee.

The east lodge room was filled to capacity, many guests being present from other points in western Pennsylvania, in addition to the cities, where the six assemblies participating, are located.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Margaret Frank, mother advisor of New Castle Assembly, and the 126 officers who participated were introduced.

A lovely honor guard, arranged by Mrs. Elizabeth Franklin, past mother advisor of the Beaver Falls Assembly, escorted Mrs. Charles E. Allen, supreme deputy, and Miss Doris Fegeley, grand worthy advisor, to their places, and the New Castle drill team, which won honors at Pittsburgh, staged a special drill for the occasion.

A class of nine candidates from the different assemblies was initiated at the beautiful Rainbow ceremony, which was followed by a rose ceremony conducted by Merle Frazier of Beaver Falls.

A similar meeting will be held this evening in Wilkinsburg, when the assemblies from that district will gather to honor Miss Fegeley and Mrs. Allen.

Birthday Party

Mrs. Joseph Sobczak of 642 Cascade street entertained a group of 14 children on April 9 in honor of her son, Joseph William's seventh birthday.

Television and games provided the evening's entertainment with prizes awarded to Suzanne Putro, Patty Ann Lopushansky, Johnny Wojtowicz and David Sarbo.

Mrs. John Lapushansky and Mrs. Joseph Gorgas assisted the hostess in serving a tasty lunch. Following the lunch, each child received a small token.

Joseph William received many gifts in remembrance of the occasion.

LET'S LOOK AT THE BACKGROUND

General Douglas MacArthur is receiving at the hands of the American people the hero's welcome he richly deserves. For nearly a half century he has served his nation courageously and brilliantly.

Unfortunately the luster of the welcome is somewhat dimmed by the reasons for his return to the United States—his ignominious dismissal by President Truman.

In the furore that has resulted in the dismissal all too many are arguing about surface conditions. Those who approve President Truman's firing of MacArthur quote the right of the commander-in-chief to remove any officer. They also try to prove that there must be unity in commands under the commander-in-chief and that unit is imperiled when an officer questions the policy of the administration.

No one questions the right of any president to dismiss a military officer for insubordination or for any other just cause. No one will argue the need for unity in the military.

What all too many are not doing is to look backwards a few years and inquire into the reasons for General MacArthur's resentment. Politicians who hope to stay in power by virtue of the Democratic administration are all for Truman's side. Many Republicans are trying to develop the firing into a political issue. A third group just won't take time to examine the record.

General MacArthur was ordered into Korea with troops in what President Truman naively called a "police action." Two days ago, either by accident or design, he called the Korean situation a war. When over 9,000 American young men are killed, when another 9,000 are missing and when the total casualty list exceeds 60,000 this sounds like war to us.

But in fighting this war MacArthur was restricted to only Korea. First south of the 38th Parallel, later north of it, but never beyond the Yalu river which is the Manchurian border. Back of this border the Red troops are permitted to organize and prepare without any interference.

MacArthur resented turning Korea into a "meat grinder" for American manhood and wanted to do what any soldier wants to do, hit the enemy wherever he was and hit him hard enough to end the war. He also believed the Chinese Nationalists should be permitted to fight for their own country.

Back of this is a record of diplomatic bungling in China. Acheson and others of the striped pants brigade called the Chinese uprising in China merely the work of "agrarian reformers." Chang Kai-Chek was handcuffed, we withdrew our support of his cause and permitted the Reds to roam and pillage. In so doing we lost China, the natural springboard for attack against Russia if and when she started war.

For answering a letter to Congressman Joseph Martin expressing what sounds to millions of Americans as logic, General MacArthur was fired, not only as the commander of the army in Korea, but also as administrator of Japan, a job he has done with star-studded brilliancy.

In assaying the MacArthur case one cannot take the developments of recent days. He must go back into the history of our diplomatic bungling in China and more of the same in Korea. It then becomes clear that while MacArthur technically is guilty of attempting to dispute the policy of the administration, he was voicing some real Americanism.

MAN'S WORLD

England is now described by at least one reporter as the last stronghold of the male. British women, if they do not know their place, are put in it quickly and, it seems, not too politely. This conclusion is inescapable after reading the comments of the critics who covered the premiere of Judy Garland, the American movie star in London on a European tour.

Miss Garland, as is well known to Americans who saw her last picture, has put on a touch of heft. But her new chubbiness went unremarked in print in the United States, and not only because the critics were sympathetic to a girl who has been having a rugged time in her private life.

It just wouldn't occur to the average American film reviewer to make unkind remarks about a young actress' added poundage. But in London they come up with such descriptions as "ungainly matron" and such adjectives as "fat," which are not only unkind but downright exaggeration. However, her 2,500-seat theater in London is booked solid for the next four weeks. Perhaps the blighters have heard that she is rich.

But Americans, who hear so much about the smoother manners and superlative tact of their trans-Atlantic cousins—and who have seen how well these have worked when practiced on officials in Washington—cannot help but wonder whether the sternness of a man's world is relieved by no touch of chivalry.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

FITZGERALD, GEORGIA, LEADER: "A governmental chamber may be empty of all save those in positions of public responsibility, and one lone newspaperman. And so long as a reporter for an American newspaper is there, the American people are there, too. The newspaper is there as their ear, and sometimes as their tongue."

RADFORD, VIRGINIA, NEWS-JOURNAL: "The institutions founded by the early settlers of New England were distinguished by their practicality. Escaping, as the Founding Fathers had, from a tyrannical government imposed from above, their first move on being faced with the problems incident to living together in a new country was to give everyone a voice in decisions. This reliance of the integrity and common sense of the individual lies at the base of the American way of life."

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Meat Is Hot Political Issue

A determined attempt by the British Labor government to remain in office through the medium of 23 cents worth of meat for each person weekly appears to be in the making today.

The broadest possible hint that the Socialists will bid for popularity on the meat issue was given to the House of Commons by food Minister Maurice Webb.

He took the unusual course of predicting that by August the supply available for all consumers will be double that of the present. Webb added that increased home production coupled with renewal of an agreement for importations from Argentina will make this possible.

Hottest Political Item

There is no question that meat is the hottest political item in Britain today.

It is on the minds of everyone. Newspapers and magazines are filled with bitter cartoons. The government is being attacked for bungling food distribution just at a time when the country is preparing for its Festival of Britain— a nationwide exhibition designed to prove to the outside world that the British are neither down nor out.

There seems little doubt that an increase in the meat ration—the present "dole" amounts to about the size of an American hamburger— could mean victory for Labor and a new defeat for Winston Churchill.

The Conservatives doubtless will will charge the Socialists with demagoguery and with thimblerigging for the sake of an election triumph.

Must Make Appeal

Foreign observers feel that Labor must make some spectacular appeal to the public. Several factors have emerged to show the gravity of Prime Minister Attlee's position.

First, Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Gaitskell's budget presentation, widely praised at first, is now coming under fire in many quarters.

Much emphasis is given to the charge that by increasing the tax on distributed profits—meaning corporation shares earinings and dividends—Gaitskell has throttled private investment, particularly in enterprises that need initiative and encouragement.

Second, Minister of Labor Aneurin Bevan, a powerful figure in the Labor group, may challenge his own government and put it in an untenable position. Bevan warned he would not serve in a cabinet which imposed charges on patients benefiting from the Free National Health Service he created.

But Gaitskell's budget would allow the government to charge half the actual costs for dental plates and spectacles. These hitherto have been gratis.

More Meat Necessary

Regardless of what Bevan does, political observers see the labor government as being compelled to make some compensation.

The government has long taken the public view that British rationing is good for the national health and cites the fact that the weight of the average person has been increased by a scientifically worked out balance of calories.

But more and more critics, medical and otherwise, insist that this increase is directly traceable to greater consumption of starchy foods and that more meat is indispensable unless the people are to be robbed of the vitality needed in difficult times.

Another factor of considerable importance is the death of former Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, who until his passing last Saturday remained a member of the cabinet as Lord Privy Seal.

Attlee has won a good deal of personal popularity through his modest, quiet ways.

But the loss of Bevin was a tremendous blow. The stocky, forceful former foreign minister was Attlee's sheet-anchor. Political commentators always felt that Labor would not lift a finger to aid any Conservative attempt to turn "Old Ernie" out of office.

Attlee lost another strong supporter in Sir Stafford Cripps, former chancellor of the Exchequer who is ill in Switzerland, and he himself is laid up in a hospital with stomach ulcers.

If a bit more meat can turn the trick for Socialism at the crossroads, the Labor government will do its best to get it and pass it around.

Just Folks

UNANSWERED PLEAS

If every prayer were answered and granted every plea,
Our cares would not be lightened; no happier should we be.
For should I ask for sunshine,
my neighbor hope for rain,
Though one of us was thankful,
the other would complain.

How wisely things are ordered,
with much we cannot know!
Into the future bravely we all are asked to go.
For joys that are denied us, the reason's never plain.
The loss at which we grumble
may prove tomorrow's gain.

What's best is seldom certain.
What God has willed and planned
Not always at the moment can mortals understand.
But this I must remember: were
God to favor me,
What served my selfish purpose
my neighbor's hurt might be.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER

WHAT ABOUT UNCLE JOE?

Our public health workers are all pepped up about people living longer.

Babies have good chances nowadays.

Butch will very likely reach three score and ten and then some.

Uncle Joe is up there in the seventies right now. He says that it is not so hot. He doesn't know what to do with himself all day long since he retired.

He loafs in the 5 and 10 sometimes. He goes to the library sometimes. He sits on a green bench a little while. Then he has no place to go.

He wonders when some one will start an Old Mens Christian Association. He would like to belong if they knew how to look after old men.

Uncle Joe went to Sunday school to learn how to get to heaven but he says that he didn't learn much about how to live on this side of the Jordan river.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Kroch's bookstore in Chicago sold 17 copies of Dale Carnegie's How to Win Friends and Influence People to one cash customer the other day. Ralph Weil, who made the sale, asked, "Could I have your name?" "I suppose so," said the customer with a certain reluctance. "It's Malik."

In private life Betty Smith, whose "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" is now being fashioned into a musical play, is the wife of Joseph Piper Jones. Whenever they fare forth from their home in Chapel Hill, she relates, they have a system for signing hotel registers. If the trip is in connection with her literacy endeavors, they use her name. If it's a pleasure jaunt, they use his. One night the issue was not quite clear. Her husband poised his pen over the register and asked, "What name shall we use tonight, dear—Smith or Jones?" The room clerk hastily assured them every room was taken.

One Man's Opinion

Whatever became of Dorothy Arnold, Judge Crater and Estes Kefauver?

Last night on a panel program somebody mentioned Kefauver and three people said "gesundheit!" and went back to discussing MacArthur.

I hear Frankie Costello never will forgive Truman for waiting until after the crime hearings to take back the front pages.

Costello was an unwilling star until Truman began playing that five star picture which is with us for an unlimited run.

Gosh there are so many parades scheduled for MacArthur it's hard to figure whether he was recalled or rerouted.

Some figure the President made a mistake in bringing back a general who was three receptions behind . . . It's hard for one voice to be heard disagreeing with massed bands.

Nobody ever made the mistake of disciplining Babe Ruth too publicly when he was hitting 'em into the stands.

They Say

SAN FRANCISCO—General MacArthur—"I can't tell you how good it is to be home."

SAN FRANCISCO—Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, General MacArthur's aide asked what the general wanted first in America—"an ice cream soda—chocolate—and a hot dog."

WASHINGTON—Senator Byrd (D) Va.—"We jeopardize our future if we continue to pursue a vague policy of impractical altruism."

CHICAGO—General Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff—"As much as I hate war, abandonment of Korea would be disastrous to the final chances for peace and a tragic blow to the hopes of free men everywhere."

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

Reports have it . . . thousands of telegrams were sent to the White House tenant . . . and it has been estimated by one of the residents there that sixty percent were for the "sacking" . . . leaving of course a mere 40% who felt differently. The demonstration in San Francisco doesn't tally the same. Maybe the population is wise to the thought that what goes in the White House heads doesn't stop.

General MacArthur will have spoken by the time this is read . . . so we can't say anything about his remarks . . . However, we do like to re-read the accounts concerning San Francisco and the thousands who paid their respect to the General.

That White House gang really have made records . . . and have become masters of never solving mysteries . . . many have reached the same conclusion as we have concerning the gang . . . that nothing is impossible or even "asinine" if you know the right people. RFC loans can be made and you needn't anything but the right person . . . Mink coats talk and Harry Vaughn says he didn't hand out deep freeze units but his pal Johnny Maragon did.

There will some day be explanations (more than have been said to date) concerning this removal of General MacArthur . . . however politics will continue in the meantime. The thousands who welcomed MacArthur won't forget in a hurry.

* * *

Santa Claus is a wonderful old guy . . . but twenty-one makes an individual old enough to vote . . . and old enough to believe in reality and not fairy stories . . . There will come a time when Santa will be no more . . . the people are beginning to awaken. Senators are listening to their constituents . . . that means that you have an obligation that must be activated. San Francisco citizens started it . . . New York will follow suit . . . in between are millions who are also fed up with Margaret's father.

SOMETHING HAS BEEN ADDED

In Class With MacArthur?

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

It has been a week since the piano player played his sorriest tune, and almost everything that can be said has been said, but I'm still stunned.

MacArthur fired. Done and finished. Stove in by a man who wears ventilated shoes, a harness horse driver's cap, and the power of the Constitution, a document drawn up by men who, I daresay, never thought it would be used in such a fashion.

The architects of the Constitution were brave men. Men willing to go to any lengths to uphold the dignity of Americans and free men everywhere. Mr. Truman used it to humiliate a brave American. Does Mr. Truman have anyone in his Cabinet, or in his personal entourage, to compare with MacArthur? If he does, won't he bring them forth. A nation would be grateful.

Let us go a step ahead of that, even.

In Same Class?

Does Mr. Truman place himself in the same class with MacArthur? Does he think he is the equal in stature of the general he humbled behind the official seal of the United States? If he does, he'll have a hard time proving it.

I suppose he knows as much law as does MacArthur, and I would give him the edge in knowledge of political machines, including the Pendergast one, but outside of that my bet rides with the General.

One of the things that turned my stomach—and it isn't easily turned, by the way—was a paragraph of the presidential communique to MacArthur. I quote it:

"You are authorized to have issued such orders as are necessary to complete desired travel to such place as you select."

A second lieutenant gets that sort of orders when he is moving from Riley to Knox. So help me, a private in the infantry gets almost as nice a note.

A gracious thing to do to a man who has given so much to his country.

Petty, Little Man

I say flatly that a paragraph like that to General MacArthur proves the signer a petty, little, ill-tempered man. Not a gentleman as the world knows a gentleman. To go on, I think a man who would do that is a great risk to a great nation, and from here on out we should be a little more careful of our ballot.

General MacArthur, in the message that fired him, was told that he couldn't fit in with the policies of the United Nations.

What honest man could?

The United Nations is talk, more talk, and then a little more talk. There isn't a member who could break down a gun of any calibre and put it together and then use it.

I am all for comfort, but not when men I am supposed to have supervision over are dying, or getting an arm shot off, or losing a foot.

Told To Fight. He Did

The United Nations told MacArthur to fight. He did.

And what has the United Nations done?

So little that you have to laugh when you read of United Nations troops making this attack, or falling back, when all the time you know that the troops are Americans, that the bullets are American, that the gas for the planes and tanks and trucks is America.

MacArhur just isn't a phoney.

This is a country of phoneys right now

Five per-centers, lobbyists, hustlers, cheaters, bums, light-weights, and you finish it. The greatest concentration is in Washington.

The government has no power to hurt a Greasy Thumb Guzik, but it does have the power to hurt a MacArthur.

Let us all hope and pray that the good Lord will let us live until 1952.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

THE SAFETY TRAINING OF A CHILD

Our public schools have done a fine job in safety education of school-age children. Children are more inclined to heed safety cautions discussed and practiced concertedly by their schoolmates than warnings dinned into their ears constantly at home. These children might profit still more from the school safety program if more of them had learned useful inhibitions (self-controls) at home in their preschool years. Several years ago a slogan adopted by the annual convention of the National Safety Council was "Stop at the curb". The best time to establish this basic safety habit is when the youngster begins to play outdoors, even long before he can clearly see the reason why.

A fact which has long amazed me is that in all the acres of print concerning safety education almost nothing has been said about the basic training of the toddler necessary for him to keep himself from running into the street and to prepare him habitually "to stop at the curb".

Out Of Street

Practically everything written to parents on street safety of their tot warns them to take responsibility for keeping the tot out of the street by holding him by his hand or protecting him with a fence. There also are some positive suggestions on attracting him to safe play places and at persuading him to avoid the street. Yet there is practically nothing on training the tot in inhibitions and self-control by associating safe physical pain with stepping off the curb into the street or highway.

We need, of course, to go on being more vigilant of the little child in respect to the street. We need to provide more safe places where he can play. We need to be more persuasive at winning his cooperation. But at best many adults will relax in vigilance. Fences don't keep older persons from leaving gates open and the best efforts at persuasion often fail.

In addition to the foregoing measures we also need to build an invisible fence around the tot by establishing in his nervous system adequate physical restraints. As soon as stepping into the street unaided and unprotected is connected by the toddler with pain, he chooses to restrain himself from this peril. Thus we could more than double his street safety and save the lives of several thousand little children every year. Aren't the lives of these precious little children worth saving?

As soon as your tot can toddle, go with him to the lawn or sidewalk. Let him take along a cart, wagon or other toy. Be always within hand's reach of him while he is there. If no vehicle is in sight let him choose whether to step into the street or not. The moment he steps off the curb, seize him and smack him soundly with your bare hand on one of his bare

State Police Say:

Never pass a passer. Occasionally on three-lane highways as you pull out to pass a car ahead of you that car may pull out to pass still another car. In that case, never drive into the third lane to pass—drop back into line and wait until the pass can be completed in safety.

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

Problem Facing Gen. MacArthur

WASHINGTON, April 19.—This is General MacArthur's week. Thanks to the magic device of television, the Pacific hero's homecoming will be viewed by more of his fellow citizens than anyone's in the past.

The TV screen will bring MacArthur into millions of homes with all of his sense of the dramatic. When the other military leaders—Eisenhower, Bradley, Nimitz, Halsey—returned they could be heard by radio but television was then in its beginning. The effect this can have is as incalculable as was the reaction to the crime committee hearings.

To Face Problem

But after the hero's welcome is over and the ticker tape is swept up, MacArthur will face the interesting problem of his future. It will not be easy to shift from the stance of gloriously acclaimed hero to that of leader of the military-diplomatic opposition to the Truman administration. This last is the role that MacArthur's passionate admirers believe he should and will take.

How MacArthur will carry on his side of a contest with Truman and the Truman poliices probably even the general, himself, does not yet know. Certainly all avenues of publicity will be open to him with editors and publishers outbidding each other to buy his every word.

Such a contest could take one turn that might work particular harm to this country's future security. It could become a battle of the documents—who said what and when as spelled out on the teletypes between Tokyo and the Pentagon here.

Possibility Developed

President Truman opened up that possibility when the White House made public at the 1 a.m. press conference three official exchanges with MacArthur's headquarters. The President had unquestionably the right to declassify those documents.

But his action startled and alarmed some officials in the Pentagon who have been conditioned to regard those messages as the very top of top secret. Most secret cables coming into the Defense department are automatically circulated among the small group with special clearance to see them. Not so, however, the exchanges between MacArthur and the joint chiefs of staff.

They have been on what is called a "need to know" basis. This means that an offiical outside the JCS with the proper clearances informed a security officer that he had need to know the contents of a particular message. The message was then sealed in an envelope and taken by a security officer to the official who made the request. In the presence of the security officer, he broke the seals, read the message and resealed it. Understandably, then, it was a little startling to see such messages in the newspapers.

Top-Secret Files

These top-secret files are known to contain much more ammunition to fire up the controversy. And significantly there is ammunition for the Truman side and for the MacArthur side.

On the Truman side are a series of messages from MacArthur telling in the critical days last November what he intended to do after he had conquered all of North Korea up to the boundary of the Yalu river. In the light of the disordered retreat that followed the intervention of the Chinese Communists in mass these would have a rather odd sound.

On the other side are documents showing that MacArthur's directives at the time of the first northward crossing of the 38th parallel were fuzzy and vague. They confronted the military commander responsible for the conduct of the war with a difficult, if not impossible situation. On the basis of those telegrams MacArthur could argue that he had no choice but to follow the course he did.

Undoubtedly Has Files

Undoubtedly MacArthur has with him a file of those all-important exchanges with Washington. But whether he has a right to release them or not is another matter. The administration would have an unfair advantage if it had the power to release the documents it chose to release, which is why Republican senators backing the general have demanded that the whole exchange be made public.

This demand will grow and it may well be that the only way for the public to make a fair judgment is to put all the documents on the record. If this is not done, then the likelihood is that parts of these messages will be disclosed by the familiar Washington system of leak and counter-leak. If the last happens, the net result will be to fan the controversy with those who really want to know the truth finding themselves further frustrated in the bitterness engendered by both sides.

To make the full exchange public will in all probability tell the enemy some things he did not know before and which he would like to know. But since the whole angry ruckus is written up large for the world to see, with the emphasis on America's divisions and dissensins, perhaps this would be a small price to pay for some objectivity in what threatens to be a battle of passions and personalities.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

If the American Medical Association does not make me an honorary member, or at least give me a medal, then there is no such thing as gratitude.

Who else discovered "fallerophobia"? Who else has written a learned treatise on "psychosclerosis"?

And who else has just found another new disease called, tentatively, "billionitis"?

I am at present engaged in trying to develop a cure for "billionitis", although I am afraid I won't succeed.

But if I do find a cure, I want not only a medal and an honorary membership in the A.M.A., but I want a statue in every city in America, and a plaque "Erich Brandeis slept here" on the wall of every hotel where I ever spent a night.

Because, if I can find the cure for "billionitis", all the achievements of George Washington will fade into nothing.

As you know, there are virus diseases, diseases caused by bacteria, and many others the causes of which are not yet known.

"Billionitis" is a disease caused by too many ciphers.

In epidemic form it is most prevalent in Washington.

But it is also often found in state capitals and in the city and town halls of many individual communities.

In its milder form it called "millionitis"—but even for that less violent state of the disease no medicine or cure has yet been discovered.

Both billionitis and millionitis usually attack their victims immediately after they take public office.

The symptoms are easy to recognize.

Men who have never amounted to much of anything, never had any business or professional success, suddenly develop what we scientists call "megalomania"—an exaggerated idea of their own importance.

The second symptom is complete forgetfulness of the value of money.

They begin to spend money like drunken sailors—just as long as it isn't their own.

Seldom having owned a hundred dollar bill of their own, they now talk and spend in billions. From that the disease derives its name.

In Washington right now billionitis is rampant; 61 billions for this, 24 billions for that and so on.

Do you know how to write 61 billions properly? I had to work for quite a while to get it right.

61,000,000,000—that's what it really looks like. I wonder how many afflicted legislators have ever figured out how much that is per United States citizen.

Do you know what 60 billion dollars means to YOU?

Four hundred dollars for every American, child or adult—that's what it means!

So, wouldn't it be wonderful to discover a cure for billionitis?

Now to "millionitis."

229th Field Artillerymen May Parade

Armed Forces Day Committee Asks They Be Returned

New Castle's own 229th Field Artillery units have been invited to march in the big Armed Forces Day parade here May 19, committee officials made known today.

Letters requesting the units presence here for the occasion have been forwarded to the area commander and to Brigadier General Daniel Strickler, commanding the 28th Division at Camp Atterbury, Ind., of which the 229th is a part.

The huge Armed Forces Day celebration will take place throughout the nation Saturday, May 19th. Cooperating in planning for the local fete is the Greater New Castle Association, the Veterans Council and all veterans posts in the city.

Gone Sevent Months

Summoned into federal service in September, 1950, it has been unofficially reported that the 28th Division will in the near future be given an European assignment. The committee arranging for the Armed Forces Day celebration here feels that it would be partcular fitting if New Castle were to honor its 229th Field Artillery Battalion here in May. Until called up, the 229th made its headquarters at the local armory and headquarters and service batteries are chiefly composed of New Castle area men.

The second Armed Forces Day celebration will have as its slogan "Defenders of Freedom," in tribute to the valor of its fighting men now bitterly engaged in Korea in defense of the American tradition.

Howard Lyons is serving as general chairman for the Armed Forces Day planning, while Attorney Walter Kieler is senior project officer for New Castle. Co-chairmen are Carbis A. Walker and Sid Lockley.

Will Grant Beer License Despite Protests Of Wife

OMAHA, April 19. — (INS) — Douglas County Commissioner George Woodward Wednesday was willing to grant a beer license to a Valley Lakes, Neb., applicant, event though his wife is opposed to it.

Mrs. Woodward's name heads a list of protestors battling the application of Ray Villarreal.

Woodward told the commissioners that he is for Villarreal "and is willing to take what comes at home." The board postponed the matter for a week.

they are planning to spend $4,400,000 for "improvements" during the next four years. There are less than 12,000 people in my community. Only about 3,000 of them are the ones who make the money to pay the bills.

Among the "improvements" are close to two million dollars for schools, $150,000 for a new police station and town court, $60,000 for a new town garage, and $15,000 for a town dump.

According to the plans, there will be some beautiful new buildings. I don't know which style of architecture they are planning for the town dump.

In the meantime, our policemen, our firemen, our teachers are woefully underpaid.

So, you see, even "millionitis" is a dangerous disease.

Can YOU suggest a cure?

Atlantic service station, South Jefferson and Lawrence streets, was robbed of approximately $200 at 3:20 p. m. Wednesday, according to a report made to police by Robert Henry, station operator.

Henry told authorities that a young man entered the station, requested permission to use a rest room, then asked for directions to the turnpike.

While the young man studied a road map, Henry and another attendant worked in another part of the building. When they returned to the room where the young man had been he was gone. They found the safe door partly open. An inspection showed about $200 had been taken.

The young man was described as follows: age, 17; height, five feet, nine inches; "pug" face; hairlip; jet black hair, combed back; blue sweater with V-neck.

HART-McGARY WEDDING NEWS

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Marion Hart, daughter of Mrs. Margaret E. Hart, R. D. 1, Cochranton, Pa., and the late Theosile C. Hart, to Albert McGary, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McGary, Sr., Volant.

The couple were united in marriage on April 7 at the First Presbyterian church in Cochranton. Rev. Donald E. Struchen, pastor of the Cochranton Methodist church, read the double ring service. Organ music preceding the ceremony was played by Mrs. Homer Nelson, Springboro, Pa., an aunt of the bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Robert C. Hart of Cochranton. She was dressed in white rosepoint lace over satin, featured with a chapel-length train. Her fingertip veil was held to a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a white Bible overlaid with a purple orchid.

Mrs. Robert Hart of Cochranton, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, the bridesmaid was Miss Ruth Buchanan of Carlton, Pa., and Millicent McGary of Volant was junior bridesmaid. Four-year-old Jean Nelson of Springboro, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl.

The groom's brother, William McGary, Jr., served him as best man, and ushers were Charles Nelson of Meadville and William Wimer of Volant.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church parlors, with 95 guests in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. McGary are residing at R. D. 1, Cochranton, following their honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Mrs. McGary is a graduate of the Cochranton high school with the class of 1949 and is employed by the H. L. Moore company. Mr. McGary attended East Brook high school and is employed by C. Fassinger & Son Manufacturing company of New Castle.

Debts Incurred By State Mean Taxes, Says White

Debts incurred by previous General Assemblies mean new taxes in Pennsylvania in the opinion of General Assemblyman Robert M. White.

Mr. White today discusses the financial problem which faces the state at the present and gives his reasons why new money must be forthcoming.

He has the following to say:

"Your state administration has asked for more money. As your legislator I have been called upon to make a very unpopular decision. After many days of studying all the facts that I can discover about the financial status of our commonwealth I am convinced that we have no choice but to accept added taxes.

"The governor's budget was presented to the public March 21st. It fills two paper back books. I've spent many hours studying it in detail. I've listened to the debates it aroused. I've discussed it with learned and responsible men. There is no use to set out the details here for the facts which call for added taxation are obvious and cannot be pushed aside.

"In the last two years the state has spent more money than it received. As a result the surplus we once enjoyed is almost gone. Unfortunately we didn't stop there. Debts we contracted which were to be paid in the years ahead. Some of these debts are coming due at this biennium and must be paid. Like so many of us, your state bought on the installment plan.

Bonus Debt

"One of these debts is the bonus debt. Sixty million additional dollars is needed to pay on the interest and principal of bonds that will be due. Our banks and insurance companies are the large purchasers of these bonds. If the state fails to meet these payments your bank deposits and your insurance policies are endangered.

"The state also sold bonds to raise money to build and to enlarge public school buildings throughout the state. The first payment is due on some of these bonds. This payment will require forty-two million additional dollars.

"In the last session of the Legislature new state agencies were created. There was no available office space for them so they were forced to rent space from private land owners. These rentals added approximately ten million dollars to the state expenses.

"This all adds up to a sizable load.

"I wasn't a member of the Legislature last term but I do not feel that I can hide behind that fact. You and I are equally responsible with anyone else for this condition.

"The previous sessions of the Legislature didn't create the bonus debt. They voted to allow the citizens of Pennsylvania to decide for themselves whether the Constitution should be changed to permit our veterans to receive a bonus. You and I demanded better school buildings. Many of our school districts didn't have the money or the credit to build them. As a result the state used it's credit and is building them for us.

More Service

"You and I asked for better health service, for protection from motorists who don't carry insurance, etc. As a result we asked for and got new state agencies. They can't serve us from the sidewalks so we must pay their rentals.

"It is no joke to be told to dig deeper into your pockets to pay more money to your government. I realize full well what many of you are going to say about me after you come to realize that I voted to raise your taxes. If it were only a case of raising money so our state administration could spend it I would never allow myself to be placed in such a position. But it is not a question of cutting expenses its purely a question of paying your debts.

For Education

"In the last two years forty cents of your tax dollar was spent to educate our children. Forty-one cents was spent for public health and welfare (public assistance, unemployment compensation, state institutions, etc.) Three cents was spent to conserve our forests and clear our streams. Two cents was spent to erect public housing. Ten cents was spent to run the government and one cent was spent to pay for your courts and your legislature. Three cents was spent to reduce the debt.

"In the next two years the governor expects to spend forty-three cents of your tax dollar to educate our children. Thirty-three cents to pay for the public health and welfare program. (Public assistance will be reduced.) Two cents will be spent to conserve our forests and clear our streams. Two cents will be spent for civil defense. (It is possible that the legislature may reduce this). Nine cents will be spent to run the government. One cent will again be spent to run our courts and our legislature. Ten cents will be spent to reduce the debt.

"Added taxes serve one good purpose. They make our people pay more attention to their government. I'll make some unpopular decisions. They are my decisions and I'll stand by them. But I owe to you to give you a clear picture of your state government.

"I hope that I have given you a simple and straight-forward report of this most important problem which faces all of us now. If I haven't then I gladly invite your questions.

"In my next report I will discuss the flat income tax bill itself."

DON'T "GUESS AGAIN"

Why guess at cooking temperatures when it is so much easier and surer to use reliable thermometers? Thermometers for roasting meats, for cooking candies, icings and jellies and for deep fat frying rule out cooking failures by showing accurate temperatures and instructions.

One manufacturer produces two thermometers which serve all the purposes mentioned above. Made of non-breakable stainless steel, one is a roast meat thermometer and the other a combination candy-deep fat frying thermometer. Both have large, clock-like faces which show temperatures and instructions plainly. The meat thermometer has a pointed stem which can be pressed directly into the center of the roast. The candy-deep fat frying thermometer fastens to the sides of cooking pans by an adjustable clamp.

New Bridge Eliminates Creek Swimming Pool

Several hundred children will be hunting for a place to swim this summer because of the Grove Street extension bridge being constructed across the Neshannock river, near the foot of Mercer street. The bridge is being erected in the exact spot the City Recreation Bureau had fashioned a swimming pool for the youngsters a few years ago.

It has been suggested that another spot along the Neshannock be fixed for swimming this summer. At the foot of Croton avenue hill is an old swimming spot that used to be known as "Belgers" and at one time, it was a very popular place during the summer.

In keeping with the suggestion of utilizing the old Belgers swimming spot another suggestion was made concerning the Neshannock side of Croton avenue from the City garages to the foot of Croton hill. A miniature city park has been made from the City garages to North street bridge and the suggestion was to extend the miniature park along the picturesque stone wall on Croton avenue. Due to the lack of ground, the suggestion was to trim the trees, clear out and thin out the underbrush and perhaps plant wild rose bushes between the wall and the Neshannock and place a bench or two along the walk.

When City Councilman Joseph Medure was questioned concerning these suggestions he stated that there is, at the present time, a sewer condition in the Neshannock and swimming in the Neshannock wouldn't be safe. He went on to add that the condition would be taken care of by City Council within the near future and then the suggestion could be acted upon. The suggestion of the miniature park was well received by Mr. Medure. He affirmed the idea and stated that it would be done thereby enhancing the beautty of a very lovely spot in New Castle.

The Croton avenue bridge is by no means the first bridge to be built over the Neshannock in the middle of a favorite swimming "hole." Several years ago the North street bridge was constructed through a popular swimming spot.

Pardon Board Spikes Clemency Appeal

HARRISBURG, April 19.—(INS)—The State Pardons Board today spiked the clemency appeal of Edward L. Gibbs, a one-time Franklin & Marshall college student slated to die in the electric chair April 23 for slaying one of the school's stenographers.

The ex-air force sergeant was found guilty by a Lancaster County court of killing Marion L. Baker with a tire lug wrench in January, 1950.

Gibbs may make a last ditch plea to Gov. John S. Fine to escape the chair in Rockview penitentiary.

The Edmonds was decommissioned after World War II.

After searching for some time, the volunteers discovered a smouldering piece of wood near the ash pit. No damage resulted from the fire.

Shenango Class Stages Mystery

The junior class of Shenango high school presented their class play, "Your Time Is Up," recently at the school auditorium. A large audience enjoyed the thrilling murder play enacted by a talented group of students. Many laudable remarks were made by the audience about the splendid realism provided by the young actors and actresses.

The play told the plight of a young man, Robert Kelch, involved with a group of crooked gamblers. The domineering sister, played by Audrey Hanna, attempts to bargain with the crooks only to discover the body of the murdered leader. The murderer, Norman Rigotti, was an accomplice of the gambler who plans the crime to implicate the brother.

However, two members of the police department, Donald Fracul and Victoria Hudak, who masquerade as friends of the sister captured the culprit. The comedy roles of the maid and next- door neighbor, who fight incessantly were excellently played by Helen Cobler and Margaret Dzemyan. Other well-played parts were that of the young lovers who stood by the accused when others doubted, Marvin Frisbee and Ilene DeChant. Violet Kelley, as the talkative stranger, provided another bit of humor to the mystery.

Band Entertains

The high school band, under the direction of Mrs. Leora Balik, provided a group of selections by Rodgers and Hemmerstein between the four acts of the play. The cast presented Sally Hann, the prompter, and Anthony Venturella, the director, with a lovely gift in appreciation of their work. After the play the entire cast enjoyed dancing and a late supper at a local dining room.

Others who contributed to the success of the production were: make-up, Jean Reed, June Reed, Donna Smith, Jeanne Adamczyk and Elsie Bruno; ushers, Carolyn Szelast, Betty Esposito, Annabel Staph, Irene Kervi, Barbara Burkes, Catherine Presnar, Inez Daugherty and Norma Rue; stage managers, Donald Kirkwood, Olympiu Orlando, Robert Shelenberger ,and Robert Feil; tickets Ronald Fracul, Frank Fedor and Walter Smith.

Women hold a little more than one per cent of the government executive posts paying $10,000 a year or more.

TAKE NO CHANCES

Wise is the cook who knows the importance of using a meat thermometer every time she cooks a roast. A meat thermometer shows when lamb, veal, beef and pork are cooked exactly right, thereby assuring meat that is juicy and flavorful. One of the simplest of thermometers to use is made of non-breakable stainless steel. It has a pointed stem which can be pressed into the thickest part of the roast without the bother of making a preliminary hole with a skewer. A large, clock-like face shows the correct temperatures for cooking meats to the desired doneness.

General Says Red Threat Is Global Issue

he was speaking with "neither rancor nor bitterness in the fading twilight of life.'

MacArthur ended his speech at 1:10 p. m. (EST) after speaking for 36 minutes. He concluded:

"I have just left your fighting sons in the Pacific. They are splendid in every way.

Causes Deep Anguish

"The wars' growing bloodshed has caused me the deepest anguish and anxiety. Those gallant men will remain in my prayers—always."

At this, the general appeared to choke up.

After a pause, he continued:

"I am closing my 52 years of military service. When I joined the army it was the fulfillment of all my boyhood dreams.

"The world has turned over many times since I took the oath on the plains at West Point. But I still remember the refrain of one of the most poular barrack ballads on that day, which proclaimed, most proudly, 'Old Soldiers Never Die. They just fade away.'

"I now close my military career by just fading away. An old soldier who did his duty as God gave him the light to see that duty.

"Goodbye."

Would Court Disaster

WASHINGTON, April 19. — (INS)—Gen. MacArthur told Congress and the world today that the U.S. would "court disaster" if it were to consider the problems of one area of the world while "oblivious" to another.

The five-star general, in an historic address to a joint meeting of Congress, said that "the issues are global and so interlocked that to consider the problems of one sector oblivious to another would be to court disaster for the whole."

MacArthur began his speech in the House chamber at 12:34 p.m. (EST) after receiving a tumultous three-minute ovation from the members and the gallery of dignitaries and guests.

MacArthur first praised the "forum" of Congress as representing "human liberty in the purest form yet devised. In it, he added, are "centered the hopes, aspirations and faith of the entire human race."

'No Partisan Cause'

The dismissed Far East commander bluntly declared he was "not an advocate of any partisan cause."

He said the "issues were quite fundamental" and must be "resolved on the highest plane of national interest."

"I trust you will do me the justice of receiving what I have to say as representing the studied viewpoint of a fellow American, with one purpose in mind, that of serving my country.

MacArthur declared that "Asia is the gateway to Europe." He said it is not true that "we cannot divide our efforts."

He said: "I can think of no greater expression of defeatism than that."

The general asserted that as long as "a potential enemy" can divide his strength on two fronts, "it is for us to counter his efforts."

MacArthur added:

Red Threat Is Global

"The Communist threat is a global one."

He added that "you cannot appease or otherwise surrender to communism in Asia" without also losing Europe to the Communists. These facts, he stated, are "general truisms."

MacArthur declared:

"We cannot appease communism in Asia without simultaneously undermining our efforts to halt communism in Europe."

Outside of these "general truisms," MacArthur added, he will concentrate his address on the Asiatic situation.

The deposed general asserted that in order to understand what is happenin gnow in Asia "we must comprehend Asia's past."

He declared:

"It was long exploited by the so-called colonial powers. The peoples of Asia found their opportunity in the war just pased to throw off their shackles . . . they are rapidly consolidating their force."

Colonial Era Past

MacArthur said that "the colonial era is now past and the Asian people covet the right to determine their own predestiny."

He declared that pre-war standards of life in Asia were "pitifully low but are infinitely lower now," and added:

"World ideologies play little part in Asian thinking and are little understood. They crave a little more food in their stomaches, a little more clothing on their backs, a little firmer roof over their heads and a realization of the natural urge for political freedom."

All of this, said the general, provides the "backdrop for contemporary planning" if America is to "avoid the pitfalls of unrealism."

MacArthur said further there have been changes in the "strategic potential of the Pacific ocean."

Frontiers Moved

He declared that America's frontier has moved since World War II from the islands of the Americas to the Far East. He said the World War salient in the Pacific "proved to be an avenue of weakness along which the enemy could and did attack."

But MacArthur said all this was changed "by our Pacific victory and our strategic front shifted to embrace the entire Pacific ocean."

He said the Pacific ocean is "a vast moat to protect us as long as we hold it and is a protective shield for all the Americas."

MacArthur asserted that from outposts in the Pacific, America can "dominate with sea and air power every Asiatic port from Vladivostok to Singapore."

He said this would prevent "any hostile movement into the Pacific."

The general added that any "predatory attack from Asia must be amphibious and no amphibious attack can be successful without control of the sea lanes and the air.'

MacArthur said:

Formosa Must Not Fall

"I have recommended in the past that as a matter of military urgency that under no circumstances must Formosa fall to an enemy.

"Such an eventuality at once threatens the liberty of the Philippines and the loss of Japan and forces our frontier back to the coasts of California, Washington and Oregon. . . ."

When the general made this statement, there was prolonged applause from both sides of the aisle.

MacArthur preceded his remark with the declaration that the Pacific can assume the status of "a friendly lake" on which peace can be maintained "with minimum of expense." MacArthur added:

"This is a military estimate to which I have yet to find a military leader who will take exception."

Denounces Chinese Reds

The general denounced the Chinese Communist government as "an aggressive imperialism with a lust for expansion."

He said that the interests of the Chinese Communists at this time happen to be identical with those of the Soviet Union.

MacArthur added, however, that China is a power in itself and that it is not motivated primarily by Communist ideology.

He declared:

"There is little of the ideological concept one way or the other in the Chinese makeup."

MacArthur pictured China today as a nation made up of "masses (who) are desperate" because of their low economic status and their continuous fight for survival.

He asserted that they are ready to follow "any leadership" that will promise them any betterment in life.

MacArthur stated that he has felt for a long time that the Chinese Communist support of the Koreans was "the dominant one" rather than that of Soviet Russia.

Receives Hero's Welcome

The 71-year-old general, stripped of his command and disavowing all political aspirations, received a hero's welcome when he arrived in the nation's capital shortly after midnight.

But he arose before 8 o'clock this morning in his suite at the Statler hotel to join Mrs. MacArthur in a hearty breakfast in preparation for the arduous day ahead of them.

Aides said the general spent the morning putting the finishing touches on the report on Far Eastern affairs, which he delivers to a joint meeting of Congress in the House chamber at 12:30 p.m. EST.

A steady rain began shortly before 8 o'clock and the weather bureau forecast scattered showers thoughout the day.

The nation's capital took MacArthur to its heart with a tumultuous and slightly riotous welcome when the conquerer of the Pacific stepped from his plane at Washington Airport.

Expect Million Spectators

And despite the inclement weather, more than a million residents of the Washington area are expected to take part in the reception for the veteran general who was removed from his commands eight days ago by President Truman.

Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's spokesman, told newsmen that the general has not asked for an appointment with the president and has received no invitation to the White House.

Whitney also said that there would be no advance copies of MacArthur's address which he described as "a general review of the Far Eastern situation with particular emphasis on the Korean campaign."

The State department flatly denied that it had asked for a first look at the speech as reported by another member of MacArthur's staff.

Network officials said more than 40 million people will see him over television and another 40 million will hear him on radio. News wires, cables and the wireless will carry his words around the civilized world.

No Political Career

MacArthur completely divorced himself from politics in a brief talk in San Francisco before enplaning for Washington. There he said he had been asked whether he would enter upon a political career.

The general added:

"My answer was 'No.' The only politics I have is contained in a simple phrase known to all of you —God bless America.

"I have no political aspirations whatsoever. I do not intend to run for any political office and I hope that my name will ever be used in a political way."

Crossing the nation from San Francisco in eight hours and six minutes, MacArthur came back to a capital torn with controversy over his dismissal by President Truman.

MAN INJURES FOOT

John Earl, aged 29 years, of 116 N. Walnut street, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital, at 6 p. m., Wednesday, for a fracture of the bones of the right foot, received when a cast iron wheel he was unloading from a truck at the Lockley Machine company, fell on his foot. He is employed there as a machinist apprentice.

Scholarships Offered Local Music Students

Willard E. Keen, director of instrumental music at New Castle Senior High School, announced today that James Crawford, high school senior, has been offered a scholarship to the University of Michigan.

Jim was one of eleven standout students chosen last weekend by Orian Dalley, music instructor at the University of Michigan at a district orchestra concert in Karns City. He plays both the tuba and French horn.

Also given recognition was James Stephenson, sophomore, who along with James Crawford will attend the Interlocken Camp of Arts in Michigan this summer.

Both boys will attend this camp through scholarships offered them by Mr. Dalley, who serves as conductor of the honors orchestra, in the music division of the camp.

Stephenson was chosen for his fine work at Karns City, on the viola and violin. Both will participate in the annual high school concert scheduled for April 27, in the high school auditorium.

More than a million trees were planted in Nebraska on April 10, 1872, on the first Arbor day.

PERSONALS

Dr. and Mrs. George Thoma, 49 Arundel Place, Clayton 5, Mo., announce the birth of a daughter on April 16 in St. Louis University hospital, according to a message received by Mrs. Rene Jenkins, 604 South Ray street. Mrs. Thoma is the former Miss Jennie Biega, Chewton, who was a nurse at the New Castle hospital.

Mrs. Wilber Ruby, Falls avenue, R. D. 8, who underwent a major operation Thursday in the Jameson Memorial hospital, is showing improvement.

Leo Strizzi, of East Washington street, who has been seriously ill for the past three weeks in the New Castle hospital, is improving nicely.

If you name an all-time major league outfield you will start with Ty Cobb, then go to Babe Ruth and probably settle next on Tris Speaker, although you might take DiMaggio. Your choice for centerfield almost certainly must be either Speaker or the Yankee clipper.

A Generous Offer To Weak, Nervous, Run-Down Folks-

Who Fail To Get the Right Amount of Vitamins and Minerals From the Food They Eat, says Love & McGown

"Try this new Vitamin-Iron-Iodine reconstructive tonic for just 30 days, and see if it doesn't increase your strength and endurance. You must be convinced—be fully satisfied, or it won't cost you a penny."

This news should bring good cheer to the Thin, Nutritionally Ailing, Run-down, Delicate folks in this town.

FERRIZAN is a marvelous new reconstructive tonic combining Iron and Iodine with Vitamins—far more effective than just vitamins alone. A true dietary supplement. Gets results quicker and does not blacken the teeth or injure them in any way, nor does Ferrizan upset the stomach. So do not confuse Ferrizan with old-fashioned Iron Tonics. Ferrizan is the modern way—to help you get the important B Vitamins—the Iron (for blood) and Iodine (for the ductless glands) to correct inadequacies and help you regain and maintain a more normal healthy body.

It is almost incredible the way rundown delicate, anemic folks—people who seem to be ailing most of the time, begin to perk up when they start taking Ferrizan with their meals. Sunken cheeks and other hollows should fill out through better assimilation of the food . . . Sallowness due to iron-impoverished blood often gives way to a healthier color . . . and as you feel stronger, nervousness should ease up; you may feel like a million dollars—better—younger—brighter, all because you've given your body, blood and glands, through Ferrizan, the deficiency vitamins and minerals you so sorely may have needed.

If you feel fatigued and irritable most of the time, low spirited and discouraged, you owe it to yourself and your loved ones to accept this generous offer.

"Take Ferrizan for 30 days and then if you are in any way dissatisfied, your money will be cheerfully refunded," says Love & Megown.

State Guard Troops Will Go To Camp

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., April 19. — (INS) — Four units of the Pennsylvania National Guard will inaugurate the 1951 training season August 18 on the Indiantown Gap Military Reservation.

State Adj. Gen. F. A. Weber said that during the two weeks ending September 1 the units will train on a portion of the 17,000-acre reservation which also is the training base for the regular army's Fifth Division recently assaigned to Indiantown.

The PNG units will be the 22nd Corps Artillery, of Harrisburg; the 104th Armored Cavalry, of Harrisburg; the 83rd Medical group, of Wellsboro, and the 111th Infantry Combat team, of Philadelphia.

The Pennsylvania Air National Guard, Weber reported, will train August 11-25 at the Air Force base near Reading.

Between August 19 and September 2, Weber said, Fort Miles, Del., will be the training site for the 118th Anti-Aircraft Artillery group, of Philadelphia; the 213th AAA group, of Allentown, and the 218th AAA group, of Pittsburgh.

Elements of headquarters and the headquarters detachment of the PNG will attend all field training, Weber added.

Estimate 'Mission' Air Strength Of Chinese In Manchuria

WASHINGTON, April 19.—(INS)—The U. S. Air Force estimated Wednesday that the Chinese Communists have enough military planes in Manchuria to fly from 500 to 700 missions a day in an all-out effort.

This would be roughly one-third of the maximum mission output of the U. S. Air Force and naval planes now being used on an operational basis in the Far East, and would rank China among the air powers of the world.

An Air Force spokesman told reporters that he personally did not know how the estimate was made, or how the Chinese could have the 800 planes that usually would be required for a daily effort of 500 to 700 missions.

He said high level Air Force intelligence had authorized him to estimate the number of missions the Chinese could fly, but had given him no estimate on the numbers of planes of different types believed to be in Communist hands.

SAFETY IN THE FARM SHOP

The safety and usefulness of a farm workshop depend upon the condition and arrangement of the shop and its equipment. Before the rush of the planting season gets into full swing, give some attention to housecleaning and rearranging the workshop.

Our defense efforts will involve more farm repair work to conserve materials. A well-equipped farm shop serves as the center of activity for many farm repair and construction jobs. The life of farm buildings and machinery can be extended by timely repairs. Costly accidents and many days of lost time during the summer can also be avoided. Repair work will be easier, safer, and more efficient in an orderly well-lighted shop.

For satisfactory arrangement and maintenance of a safe farm shop:

Reserve the side of the shop with large doors for the repairing of large machines. Have work areas well lighted, and clean and free of tripping hazards.

Paint the interior a light color or whitewash it to improve visability.

Avoid the use or storage of flammable liquids in the shop.

Have a definite storage space for tools and supplies and keep everything in its place.

LOWER COST MAIN DISHES

Cheese or eggs or both with milk are excellent main dishes. There is no waste to these foods and they give the same fine body-building protein as meat.

Also small amounts of fish, meat, or chicken will go further when you combine them with cream sauce, put into a baking dish, and sprinkle with buttered crumbs. Baked until brown and heated through you have a good-to-eat dish.

Canadian Newsprint Put Under Control

OTTAWA, April 19.—(INS)—Canada last night declared newsprint an essential commodity and the defense production department was ordered to bring it under government control.

Government spokesmen said the order ultimately will result in more even distribution of Canada's vast newsprint supplies, of which the United States gets the bulk.

R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp & Paper Association, was named director of the newly-formed pulp and paper division of the materials branch of the defense production department.

Last year Canada shipped 4,700,000 tons of newsprint to the United States and sent 19,000 tons to Great Britain.

Local YWCA To Observe Y Week

Many Activities Planned Next Week

Next week the YWCA of New Castle will join with 443 other YWCA's throughout the United States in celebrating National YWCA Week.

Emphasizing both the fun and the serious side of YW membership, this year's theme for the week is "It's Your World. Join In Through the YWCA".

Announce Plans

Miss Marion Campbell, chairman of all-association program, announces that general plans are divided as follows: on Tuesday the branch will have open house all day with a program in the evening; on Wednesday Central will have a program for the entire community at 7:30; on Thursday the YW Wives plan an activity in the afternoon and Y-Teens will have a forum that evening.

The Wednesday evening program to which all members and friends are invited will open with a union worship service in which Dr. J. Paul Graham, president of the ministerium; Dr. Robert F. Galbreath and Dr. J. Calvin Rose will participate. A number of churches plan to unite in this service instead of having their own midweek service. Dr. Rose who recently attended a meeting of church leaders will give a review on progressive trends of contemporary churches to meet current crises.

To Present Play

Following this there will be a presentation of YWCA activities and services by YWCA chairmen and then a one-act play, "You Put On a Play", to be given by the YW Players under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Cooper. The YW Players will be remembered for their good play of last year when many people were turned away from the performance on account of lack of space.

Other features on the program include the NeCaHi Y-Teen chorus and other group singing to be led by Mrs. William J. Caldwell.

A social period will follow the program when people may become better acquainted wtih the YW building and each other while they enjoy tea and home made cookies to be made by the board of directors.

Driver Blamed In Girl's Death

Coroner's Jury Says Buckel Was Negligent

After hearing the testimony of witnesses at an inquest conducted by Coroner Charles E. Allen, in the municipal building at Ellwood City, Wednesday evening, a coroner's jury brought in a verdict in which they blamed the driver, Glenn L. Buckel for negligence in the death of Angeline Bucci. Miss Bucci, 15-year-old Ellwood City high school student died in the Ellwood City hospital on April 10, from injuries sustained when struck by a truck driven by Buckel.

The jury was composed of Robert R. Edwards, Lawrence L. Turner, A. L. Weller, James P. Meneice, George Yetzer, and Fred D. Poister, of Ellwood City.

The witnesses included State Policeman Joseph E. Howe, Mrs. Fred Wolfe, Charles McKim, Dr. J. C. Painter, Clare McKim, Donald Plassmeyer, and the driver, Glenn L. Buckel, all of the Ellwood City district.

Measured Skid Marks

Howe testified that after being summoned to the accident scene, he had secured the testimony of witnesses, and had measured skid marks on the highway, which extended from 101 to 106 feet.

Mrs. Fred Wolfe, of 717 Argonne Boulevard, Ellwood City, stated that she was driving towards Wampum, on Route 288, she was travelling at a speed around 40 miles an hour, she stated, and had just been passed by a small truck, when she saw another truck alongside her, and felt it just bump against the side of her car. It did not knock her from the highway, she stated, and she pulled to the side of the road and stopped. She placed the time at around 4:15 to 4:20 p.m., on April 10, 1951. The truck came to rest, facing the right side of thhe road, almost in the center of the highway. She was unaware that the two girls, she had seen walking along the side of the highway had been struck, until after she stopped and got out of her car.

Charles McKim, of 429 Hazel avenue, Ellwood City, stated that he was driving west or northwest on Route 288 from Ellwood City towards Wampum, and passed Mrs. Wolfe's car, at a point about a mile west of Ellwood City. He stated that both girls were walking on the concrete, and that he had blown his horn in passing, he had to turn sharply in front of Mrs. Wolfe's car to avoid striking them. He looked in his rear-vision mirror and saw the truck following him, driven by Buckel, strike the girls and went back and helped give assistance. He said the one girl was hurled under the rear of a car, parked at the side of the road, and that the other girl was thrown to the side of the highway.

Doctor Testifies

Dr. J. C. Painter, of 80 Pittsburgh Circle, Ellwood City, told of being called to treat the girls injured in the accident, at the Ellwood City hospital. The one girl, Angeline Bucci had expired by the time he reached the hospital, at 4:35 p.m. She had suffered a fracture of the skull in the parietal region, and had also sustained numerous brush burns about the body.

Clare McKim, who resides on the Ellwood City-Wampum road, stated that he had assisted taking care of the injured girls. He had not seen the accident, he stated.

Donald Plassmeyer, who resides at the spot where the accident occurred, told of Mrs. Wolfe coming into their house to summon aid, and of how he helped care for the girls until an ambulance arrived.

Driver Testifies

Glenn L. Buckel, driver of the truck which struck the girls, stated that he was employed by Martin H. Houk, hauling coal, and that he was returning home at the end of his day's work. He resides on the Ellwood City-Wampum road. He stated that he was just about to pass the panel truck, driven by McKim, and as he swung out to make the pass, the panel truck swung out ahead of him. He was only about a car length behind it, and attempted to follow it through. He said he had not seen the girls until he swung out, and then swerved the truck to the right to try and crowd Mrs. Wolfe's car to the right to avoid striking the girls. His truck struck the one girl a glancing blow, and spun her around towards the side of the road. The other girl was struck head-on. He said he had blown his horn, and applied the brakes when he saw the girls, but that they had not moved. Although the speedometer on the truck was not working, he said he estimated his speed at 30 miles per hour. He said the truck had just been in the garage recently to be overhauled, and that the brakes were in good shape.

Deputy Coroner Robert G. Dambach, of Ellwood City, who investigated the circumstances for the Coroner's office, made the arrangements for the inquest.

Draft Quota Of State For May Is Reduced To 1,872

HARRISBURG, April 19.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's induction quota for May was reduced today from 4,243 to 1,872.

State Selective Service headquarters announced the reduction was in line with the national cut from 60,000 to 40,000, and also reflected a credit of 1,000 inductees because of the state's backlog in acceptable draftees.

OUTDOOR RAMBLES with N. R. CASILLO

INTANGIBLES

Naked, without implements or weapons or food, Joe Knowles was dropped off a truck on a remote tote road in northern Maine where he took to the woods.

The time was the first week in October and in northern Maine the mercury crawls down toward its winer quarters even that early in the fall. Yet, Joe Knowles claimed that he would emerge three months later adequately if not fully dressed and in good health.

Those of you who can remember back to the early twenties may recall the rash of such experiments that were conducted throughout the country. All attracted wide attention, but the lion's share was claimed by Joe Knowles, an artist on the Boston Post. Of course, it was due to his flare for publicity, his experiment arousing almost as much interest as the doings of the Kefauver investigations.

To keep the interest at fever pitch Knowles wrote a running account of his activities for his newspaper. It was, naturally, a top feature. To comply fully with the rules, he wrote with charcoal on birch bark, leaving the bark script at a predetermined spot.

What was Joe Knowles attempting to prove? Well, like the rest of those nature boys cluttering up the woods, he was trying to reaffirm man's ability to survive just as had our primitive forebears in the face of what seems like unsurmountable natural obstacles. Back in the dizzy twenties many of the more solid citizens declared that man was going to pot; flappers, bathtub gin and flaming youth in general had reduced man to a mere shadow of his former self. Knowles and his contemporaries were out to re-establish the dignity as well as the ruggedness of man.

Did the experiment succeed, True, he returned to civilization cloathed in a mangy bear hide, his feet swathed in the same material; his hair and beard adding to the effect he emphasized with the king size cane he carried. As he emerged from the woods on that appointed day, the cluster of hardy souls awaiting him gazed in awe on what looked like a reincarnation of Neanderthal man. Right then and there many of the onlookers decided that they would take their chances with the vastly more pleasant vicissitudes of the howling twenties.

From time to time man becomes conscience-stricken with his activities in this modern world and tries to make amends for his "goings' on" by turning to nature. Perhaps, he is impelled by the cleansing effects of searing sunshine, whipping rain and pure, raw air. If we wash ourselves often and regularly it is unnecessary to undergo the general overhauling required if we wait too long.

The spiritual uplift that one gets from gazing across the apparently limitless distances of space as the stars blink down on him or upon examining the humblesst blade of grass, cannot be denied. One is closest to the Creator when gazing upon his handiwork.

So, it's not necessary to go to the extremes of a Joe Knowles. Get out into the open as often as you can even if it is no farther away than your backyard or the nearby park. Go it alone or in the company of a kindred spirit. If you are a fisherman, a hunter or a golfer give some attention to your surroundings. This alertness to the so-called intangibles will make your outing infinitely more pleasant and you will derive something that becomes a part of you.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Rough and Tumble Play

Morris Hoffman looked forward to the regular evening romp with his children. And the youngsters were no less eager to engage in a little rough-and-tumble play with their dad.

Most of us fathers, unless we're tired or worried, enjoy roughhousing with our young fry. Sometimes, though, the children aren't so enthusiastic. Sam Jones gets irritated because his four-year-old son shies away from rough play. Yet it was Sam, himself, who built up the boy's dislike.

When Sammy, Jr., was scarcely more than a baby, his dad used to toss hm high in the air, roll him over and over on the floor and drop him on the sofa so he would bounce. That was Mr. Jone's idea of fun. But it came too fast for Junior. He was frightened. This didn't fit into Sam's idea of what a real boy should be like. And he thought the way to get the youngster over his dislike of roughhousing was to give him more of it.

Children differ. From the beginning some seem to like rough-and-tumble play. For others, enjoyment can come only gradually, after they are completely assured that they aren't going to be hurt. It's a wise parent who takes these things into account.

Approval Given To $1,200,000 Budget For Civil Defense

HARRISBURG, April 19.—(INS)—Approval was given today to a $1,200,000 biennial budget for the state civil defense council.

Allocation of the money, however, must await the legislature's decision on the more than billion dollar budget which includes 20 million dollar reserve civil defense fund, proposed by Gov. John S. Fine.

Director Richard Gerstell said the money is to be used to coordinate local defense programs and to speed up operation of the aircraft warning and observation systems.

The balance of the fund proposed by the governor, Gerstell said, would be set aside for future use.

"This reserve cannot be used," he declared, "to create or support any sort of wasteful bureaucracy. It would be drawn upon in the event of actual disaster or threat of an immediate disaster, and no part of it would be expended without the express approval of the governor and the entire council of civil defense."

"Under such conditions," he added, "it would be used for the employment of temporary workers and for the rent or purchase, with or without federal grants-in-aid, of equipment and supplies required to meet the emergency."

Tifereth Israel Passover Services

The Festival of Passover commemorating the redemption of Israel from Egyptian bondage and ushering in the universal concept of freedom as found in the Book of Exodus, will start Friday evening, April 20. It will continue for a period of eight days until Saturday evening, April 28.

During this Passover period a strict abstinence is observed from partaking of leavened bread or of any food prepared with leaven. The traditional Seder service will be observed on the first two evenings, Friday and Saturday evenings, April 20 and 21, respectively in every Jewish home.

A pre-Passover service will be held this Friday morning, April 20, at 7 a.m. at Congregation Tifereth Israel. A reception will be tendered the worshippers by Mr. and Mrs. Nate Land following the Friday morning service.

The Passover evening service will be held this Friday evening, April 20, at 6:45 p.m. and Saturday morning at 8 a.m. with a service on Sunday morning at 8:30 a.m. Rabbi Jules Lipschutz will officiate and preach the sermonic discourses and Rev. Benjamin Miller, cantor, will chant the Passover liturgies. Children of the Tifereth Israel Religious school will observe the Passover vacation period and regular class sessions will be resumed on Sunday, April 29, at 10:30 a.m.

Home Convention Series Continues

Rev. David C. Kopp of Punxsutawney, Western Pennsylvania Alliance District Superintendent, will be heard again this evening in the annual Home Convention services of the Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street. The service will open at 7:30 o'clock in charge of the pastor, Rev. George Jones.

Friday evening a special offering will be lifted for Rev. Kopp, with services Saturday and Sunday to close the series. A pledge offering for the church building fund is to be lifted on Sunday.

Temple Israel Passover Services

Passover will be ushered in at Temple Israel on Friday evening, April 20, with vesper services conducted at 6:30 o'clock.

Services will be followed immediately by the congregation Seder. Passover morning services will be held in the form of a family worship service on Sunday morning at 10:55 o'clock.

Dr. Iwan J. Gruen will be in charge of services, his topic to be, "When Your Child Will Ask You".

Children's Theatre Play For Friday

From the land "east of the sun and west of the moon" come the players of the Pittsburgh Children's theatre in their production of Beatrice Lewis' dramatization of "The Emperor's New Clothes". Grace Price is bringing the favorite story to New Castle on Friday evening in her special adaptation of Hans Christian Anderson's tale.

Sponsored by the Federation Juniors of New Castle, this final production in the series will be presented in the George Washington junior high school auditorium. The doors will be open at 7 o'clock and the curtain time, as always for the children's plays, is set for 7:30 p. m. Parents are urged to call for their children promptly at 9 o'clock.

Robust Comedy

"The Emperor's New Clothes" has its setting in the faraway land of the great Northern Empire. It is a robust comedy filled with trickery. A vain emperor who cares for nothing but new clothes hires the merry rogue, Hi-Ho, to weave a magic cloth for his wedding robe for his forthcoming marraige to Princess Dar-Ling. Meanwhile, Kow-Tow and his wicked Empress Dowager conspire to prevent the wedding, as it will mean exile for the Empress Dowager. Hi-Ho promises that not only will the cloth be magnificent...but it will have magic power...because it will be visible only to the good and wise and invisible to the wicked and foolish.

Actually the cloth is purely imaginary, since Hi-Ho only pretends to weave. All the court members are afraid to confess they cannot see the magic cloth...save one...Little Sim, who is the only one to admit he cannot see the cloth. For this he is rewarded, the Empress Dowager is banished into exile and the once vain emperor leads the wedding procession clad only in an undershirt. The young people will want to watch for the miraculous awakening of the Great Wu, the one-eyed God of Truth, who is present throughout the play.

The first Altantic cable was laid between Cape Breton, N. S., and Newfoundland in 1885.

Recalls Previous Sinking Of Piedmont Farm Road

"The Case of the Disappearing Highway" has brought back boyhood memories to one New Castle-ite, Grant McConnell, 517 West North street. In 1914 Mr. McConnell's parent's lived on the old Piedmont Farm, it was the Woods Farm then, and he tells of the time the road on Route 18 did the same thing it is doing now, sinking straight down, only at that time it was worse.

He tells of a house that used to sit on the bank along the road. The road started to sink a little but the family living in the house didn't move out until they awoke one morning and discovered they had lost their back porch during the night.

According to Mr. McConnell, the hill between the road and the railroad tracks was, at one time, a very gentle slope but that crewmen grading for the track bed cut the hill so that the bank between the road and railroad was almost straight down.

"In those days," Mr. McConnell chuckled, "folks didn't notice a hole in the road very much. We just took the horse and buggy through the field by-passing the hole."

Tracks of the railroad were heaved up then, too, causing workmen to work the entire summer cutting out the blue clay with huge shovels trying to keep the tracks at the normal grade.

The army has suffered 50,694 of the casualties, the Marine Corps 8,946, the navy 645 and the air force 490.

News Briefs From City Hall

Some new street signs were being installed by police bureau attaches today. As soon as weather permits, city painters will paint safety lines, according to chief of police Robert D. Hanna.

Arrangements are being made by police chief Robert D. Hanna to have sirens placed on police cars. At present, the cars have no sirens, which holds cars behind traffic in time of emergencies.

Traffic police have been instructed by police chief Robert D. Hanna to pay keen attention to autos parked in alleys and which double park. Parking in alleys, he reports, may interfere with fire equipment enroute to a possible fire, and twin-parking congests traffic.

Cascade park is being dolled up for the picnic season. Several laborers, who worked there last summer, and who were re-hired last Wednesday, have started cleaning the park of winter's debris. The park still lacks a greenhouse to grow flowers. What plants are reared are grown on an upper floor of the park office.

INTERIOR DECORATION

"We are going to paint the walls and ceiling of our living and dining rooms, both of which are fair-sized rooms with an archway between. Should the ceilings be the same as the walls or a different color? I am also going to have my furniture reupholstered. Could you suggest a color for that, as well as for my draperies. I am going to buy new dining room furniture. Have you any suggestions?"

Answer: When two rooms open into each other, their color schemes should be alike or complimentary. I suggest light green for bath rooms, or if you prefer light green for the living room and peach for the dining room. Although many modern decorators suggest different but harmonious colors for ceilings, my personal choice is either white or a tint of the wall color.

With either of the wall colors suggested, rose furniture would be most attractive with an occasional or fireside chair of green or possibly gold. Draperies of ivory or white back-ground with a large floral design would be excellent with your otherwise plain decoration.

Nothing excels Duncan Phyfe mahogany dining room furniture. It is durable, timeless and in excellent taste for any type of house.

Question: I am going to paint the wood trim in the living room, and kitchen and bedrooms of my Colonial house. What colors do you suggest?

Answer: For your kitchen, light gray or buff walls and trim. White throughout the other rooms is very attractive for a Colonial house.

F.B.I. Man Is Heard By Club

J. J. Kainane Talks On Law Enforcement

In an interesting talk before members of the New Castle Kiwanis club, at the weekly noon luncheon meeting in The Castleton Wednesday, J. J. Kainane, F.B.I. agent, told the Kiwanians of the history of law enforcement and the development of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

District Governor L. D. Smith, of Beaver Falls, was also a guest of the club yesterday, and urged the local club to increase its club activities in order to bring the rating of the clubs in the local district to a higher level. The opportunity for service is great, Dr. Smith stated, and the obligation is not only with the officers of the club, but with the members as well.

Had Early Beginning

Law enforcement, Mr. Kainane stated, began with the Romans in 490 B.C., when patrolmen were sent out to keep down crime. The first record of police authority. It declined, but was later adopted by Justus Caeser in 29 B.C., which lasted until after the advent of Christianity, when the encroachments of the barbarians caused it to be discarded for military defense.

Later Charlemagne had a police force, and around 900 A.D., the Normans established police authority by groups, of first 10 and later 100.

Modern law enforcement began with a law introduced into Parliament by Sir Robert Peel, of England in 1828. There were 235 crimes on the British calendar punishable by death prior to that time, yet it was estimated that one in every 22 persons was a criminal, Mr. Kainane stated.

Scotland Yard was founded in 1856, and became a famous law enforcement agency.

Dutch Had Watchmen

In the United States, the Dutch had watchmen as early as 1658 in New York, who patrolled the streets at night to prevent crime, but it was not too successful, as rich men, wishing to avoid the duty, hired thugs and criminals to take their place, and crime flourished. In 1857, New York City adopted the system founded by Sir Robert Peel, he stated.

The term "cop" as applied to policemen, he said, originated when police officers were first called constables. The sergeant would mark on the blotter the name of the officer followed by the letters C.O.P., which meant Constable on Patrol.

In 1908, he stated, Attorney General Bonaparte formed the FBI with an original complement of 25 men. In 1924, J. Edgar Hoover, then a young attorney in the Department of Justice, was asked to modernize the F.B.I., which he consented to do as long as it was divorced from politics. He established a modern identification division, with a nucleus of 810,188 prints. As of February 28, 1951, there were on file with the FBI 117,216,578 prints. Not all of these, however, he stated, are of criminals. Total criminal fingerprints now are 21,227,920. During the month of February, he stated, the fingerprints of 98,337 law breakers were recorded and placed on file with the bureau.

In July, 1935, the national FBI Police Academy was established for the training of local police. Three schools are held each year for a period of 12 weeks. Formerly, an FBI agent was required to be an attorney, but now this has been modified to admit any who are college graduates.

Following his talk, he answered a number of questions on the bureau.

Guests of the club yesterday, in addition to District Governor Smith, included F. E. Mitchell, of Beaver Falls, and L. C. Bracken, of Holland, Mich.

DYED DOGS

PARIS — (INS) — A Parisian fashion designer believes that ladies should dye their dogs to match their duds. Pierre Balmain thinks there's no harm in dipping Rover in a dye bath so that when he goes out for a walk he'll match his mistress' outfit.

Husband-Wife Spat Can Reduce Life Of Lady's Hairdo

DES MOINES, Ia., April 19.—(INS)—A hair expert warns women that a breakfast table spat "with your husband" reduces the life of a permanent.

Norman Hillier of New York, speaking at a convention of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists association in Des Moines, said:

"A quarrel with her husband will have repercussions in milady's hair in five minutes."

Hillier added that there is nothing like "a good hair-pulling" to enhance the subsequent beauty of coiffures. He said hair-pulling was much preferred to scalp massages to prevent oiliness.

TO BUILD LARGEST GENERATOR

PHILADELPHIA, April 19.—(INS)—The Westinghouse Electric Corporation plans to build the largest gas turbine-generator ever ordered for commercial generation of electric power.

The company announced today that the 15,000 kilowatt machine was ordered by the Public Service company of Oklahoma. Delivery is scheduled in about three years.

Natural gas from the Oklahoma fields will provide the heat energy which the new turbine will convert into electric power for the Bartlesville area.

County To Nab Trash Dumpers

Resolution Bans Garbage Dumping

Folks who use the highways or vacant property adjoining highways to dump trash will be prosecuted by the county in the future.

Persons giving information leading to the arrest and conviction of garbage dumpers will be given a reward of $15.

This action was taken Wednesday morning by the county commissioners when a resolution was adopted authorizing such action. The resolution sets out that under the state law the county commissioners can prosecute any person responsible for actions dangerous to the health, welfare, safety or convenience of the people of the county.

It further sets out that an Ohio man has had a contract for bringing garbage over from Ohio and pumping it in this county. The resolution stops such actions and prohibits any person within or without the county from dumping garbage, cans or any other such junk along highways or on property adjacent to highways.

The action came about as the result of L. L. Benzenhoeffer's bringing in truck loads of garbage from Poland, O., and dumping it on property in Mahoning township near the Edenburg-Lowellville road.

It is reported there is another spot near East Brook which has been used for garbage dumping. There has also been some of it in Shenango and Slippery Rock townships.

The commissioners have appropriated $1,005 for the payment of rewards to persons giving information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons violating the new order.

APPROVE FMTA ACTION

By an unanimous vote the county commissioners Wednesday approved the action of the Lawrence County Chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association, urging that Highway 18 be improved all the way from Homewood to New Castle instead of just to Moravia. Commissioner Joseph F. Travers moved approval of the idea and the motion passed.

ONE SENTENCE

Joseph Smith, up before Judge W. Walter Braham upon a charge of assault and battery, was assessed the costs in the case and got two months to the county jail.

ROAD PETITION

Resident of Shenango township along the Turkey Hill-Chewton road presented a petition to the county commissioners Wednesday asking that the state be urged to not relocate the present highway.

Presently there is a highway built by the WPA which leads into Union Valley. The state proposes to relocate the road, a move which the residents say will be inconvenient to taxpayers, mail routes and school bus routes. The petition will be sent to Harrisburg.

SISTERS INSPECT HOME

Among the guests who inspected the new Juvenile Detention Home were a group of the Sisters of St. Francis, some from the New Castle hospital and some from Pittsburgh. They were delighted with th efficiency of the new home, the Pittsburgh sisters expressing the opinion that this county should be proud of such a home.

WATER CASE SETTLED

Judge John G. Lamoree has handed down an opinion and order in the equity suit of John and Anne Ursu against Alfrons and Mary Mathieu, all of Ellwood City.

The case was one in which the plaintiffs claimed the defendants had cut off their water supply. The homes of the litigants are on one lot and one water line services the two houses. An arrangement had been made whereby they divided the water bills, but the plaintiff claims the defendants shut off their water some time ago. It was restored only when the boro health department ordered it.

Judge Lamoree enjoins and restrains the defendants from cutting off or interfering with the supply of water to the home of the plaintiffs. He also orders the plaintiffs to have a water meter installed upon the line servicing their home. The costs are to be paid by the defendant. The decree is a temporary one but will become permanent if no objections are entered.

THE PERIOD OF MOSES

GOD HELPED HIM SAVE HIS PEOPLE FROM SLAVERY

Scripture—Exodus 14:15; Deuteronomy 5-6; Psalm 136

The destruction of Pharaoh's host.

"Thou shalt love Jehovah thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy might."—Deuteronomy 6:5.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

As today's lesson jumps from Abraham to Moses, it would be well for the teacher to tell briefly of the reason why the Israelites were in Egypt, if they are not familiar with that story.

Relate the tale of Joseph sold into Egypt by his brothers, of his father, visiting him in that land after a famine in the homeland, and how the Hebrews won honor and riches in the land, becoming so powerful that, after Joseph's time, they gradually were made slaves to the Egyptians. How Moses was chosen by God to bring His people out from bondage to a promised land.

Speak of the plagues with which the Egyptians were harassed until the Paraoah agreed to let them go; and then go on with the lesson.

The Lord told Moses to lead his people to the shore of the Red sea, and have them camp there overnight. This was done. In the meantime the Pharaoh and many Egyptians regretted that they had let these slaves escape, in spite of the fact that the last plague had cost them the lives of their first-born, while the angel of death had marked the homes of the Israelites so that none of their children were slaughtered. This was called the Passover, as the angel passed over the Hebrew homes.

Pharaoh heard the complaint: "Why have we done this, that we let Israel go from serving us?" So he ordered a great army to follow and bring them back.

The Israelites saw the Egyptian hosts coming toward them and they were sore afraid. They complained bitterly to Moses, saying, "It had been better for us to serve the Egyptians than we should die in the wilderness."

Moses said: "Fear ye not, stand still, and see the salvation of the Lord, which He will show to you today: for the Egyptians ye have seen today, ye shall see them never again."

The Israelites camped on the shore, and a pillar of cloud that had been in front of them, stood behind them and shielded them from the enemy. All night a strong east wind blew and they were undisturbed. In the morning Moses stretched out his hand over the sea; "and the Lord caused the sea to go back and made the sea dry land, and the waters were divided.

"And the children of Israel went into the midst of the sea upon dry ground: and the waters were a wall unto them on their right hand, and on their left."

The Egyptians pursued them and went into the sea where the Israelites had passed safely, but the wheels had been taken off their chariots (by the Lord), and the going was heavy.

On the other shore Moses again stretched forth his hand over the sea, and the waters returned in all their strength and overpowered all the hosts of Egypt—their horsemen, chariots, all drowned.

Then Moses and the children of Israel rejoiced and sang:

"I will sing unto the Lord, for He hath triumphed gloriously: the horse and his rider hath He thrown into the sea.

"The Lord is my strength and song, and He is become my salvation: He is my God, and I will prepare Him an habitation; my father's God, and I will exalt Him."

"And Miriam, the prophetess, the sister of Aaron, took a timbrel in her hand; and all the women went out after her with timbrels and with dances."

So Moses brought the children of Israel from the Red sea, and they went out into the wilderness of Shur, where they found only a bitter stream of water to drink. Again the people murmured against Moses, asking him what they should drink. The Lord showed him a tree, which, when he had thrown it into the water, it sweetened the water and made it fit to drink.

In the fifth chapter of Deuteronomy we are told that Moses called the children of Israel to him and said to them: "Hear, O Israel, the statutes and judgments which I speak in your ears this day, that ye may learn them, and keep them, and do them."

Then he gave them the ten commandments of the Lord, and told them to keep the statutes diligently because God had been very good to them. And he told them: "And when thy son asketh thee in time to come, saying, what mean the testimonies and the statutes, and the judgments, which the Lord our God hath commanded you?

"Then thou shalt say unto thy son: We were Pharaoh's bondsmen in Egypt; and the Lord brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand."

Today we cannot drive the waters back with an upraised hand, but the Lord has shown us how to make great powerful ships to cross the waters; huge airships that fly over land and water to take us where we wish to go. We can use them in helping to keep freedom strong in the world, and we should never forget the Lord who permits us to build such things, and to thank Him. Also we should strive to put them to right uses and keep the commandments of the Lord.

Average Length Of Life May Increase In Future Years

NEW YORK, N. Y., April 19.—Further increases in the average length of life in the United States depend largely upon the reduction or postponement of deaths from the chronic conditions, especially the diseases of the circulatory system and cancer, according to Metropolitan Life Insurance Company statisticians.

By contrast, the 19-year gain in the average length of life over the past 50 years can be attributed for the most part to reduction in mortality from the infectious diseases—notably pneumonia, influenza, tuberculosis, and the communicable diseases of childhood.

The complete elimination of the heart and blood vessel diseases as a cause of death would increase the expectation of life at birth almost 10 years for men and 9 years for women. And the elimination of cancer would add almost 2 years for men and 2½ years for women.

"It is, of course, unrealistic to talk of wiping out cardiovascular-renal diseases," the statisticians point out, "yet it should be remembered that they are responsible for more than 200,000 deaths a year under age 65. If most of these deaths could be postponed until later years, the expectation of life would be increased appreciably."

Among men, as many years would be added to life by eliminating accidents as by eliminating cancer, although the mortality rate from cancer is considerably higher. The explanation is that a larger proportion of accidental deaths occur at the younger ages, and hence the average number of years saved by eliminating accidents would be greater.

New York Prepares For Littered Streets

NEW YORK, April 19.—(INS)—One thousand street sweepers and 150 supervisors have been assigned to the parade route along which General Douglas MacArthur will pass in New York tomorrow.

They will be aided by 50 flushing machines and 15 mechanical sweepers.

Uppermost in the minds of the "white wings" is the question: how much waste paper, confetti and ticker tape will shower the streets?

The record is 1,800 tons, set up in the parade for Howard Hughes on July 15, 1938. The preivous record was 1,750 tons, removed on June 13, 1927, after the city had feted Charles A. Lindbergh.

Home And Tree Are Damaged By Auto

Roof, porch and tree at the Akers residence, 477 East Washington street, were damaged, as was a cement wall at the Duddy used car lot nearby, when struck by an auto allegedly operated by Paul McIntyre, East Wallace avenue, about 3:55 a. m. today. McIntyre sustained an injured nose. His car was damaged, according to police.

Clarence Slater, Brooklyn avenue, who was driving nearby when the accident occurred, drove McIntyre to his home, according to the report.

WINDSHIELD BROKEN

Windshield in the car of Frank Piscuineri, Hilslville, was broken by a stone thrown by one of several boys in East Washington street at Almira avenue at nine o'clock last night, according to a report made to police.

The annual shoe production in the United States is approximately three pairs per capita, or 450 million pairs.

New Castle Indians Impressive In First Outdoor Drill

Milnar Pleased By Spirit Shown

Kowalski, Lavigne, Butler Display Power

One workout does not necessarily mean that a baseball club is "hot stuff," but it must be said the New Castle Indians candidates at Flaherty Field yesterday gave it the old college try, and looked impressive.

Manager Al "Lefty" Milnar got his first look at the 1951 squad outdoors yesterday in a drill that started at 10 o'clock and lasted until after 3 o'clock and announced himself at a board of directors meeting last night as satisfield that New Castle is going to have a pretty good team this summer.

"I'm not going out on any limbs, but from what I observed at the first workout, we are going to have hustle," Milnar said.

Slug Ball Hard

Particularly impressive in batting practice was the three players acquired from Johnstown—Walt Kowalski, Don Lavigne and Chet Butler. Kowalski the "Blond Terror" banged one pitch out of the ball park, the pellet sailing over the left field wall. "Just trying out the range, "Fowalski modestly said.

Also hitting the ball well were the two Negro players, Ted Toles and Rudy Johnston, while Bernie Sakanich the rookie catcher belted a few stiff line drives.

Three of the rookie hurlers, Joe Miskiewicz, Steve Sheronovich, and Lee Bickel were bearing down on the pitches, the trio having had a month's training with the Cleveland Indians farm clubs in Florida.

Joe Frisina the shortstap acquired from Oil City looked good in a short infield drill, and also at the bat, the "clutch hitter" is going to be a valuable man this year.

Manager Milnar led his squad to the field today for another tough workout. The drill consisted mostly of limbering up legs and arms, a little pepper ball and fungo hitting.

"We're taking it easy now, but the drills will be getting tougher as we get in better condition," Milnar stated.

A call was put through to a second baseman last night and he should be in any day now.

Jamestown Here May 2

Jack Lewis, energetic business manager of the Indians today announced that an exhibition game with Jamestown, N. Y., of the Class D Pony league has been scheduled at Flaherty Field for Wednesday night May 2. This will serve as a warmup for the league opener the next night at Butler.

"Ticket sales are looking better", Lewis said and a 3,000 opening day Sunday, May 6, crowd is not an impossibility.

President Al Scarazzo conducted a very harmonious meeting of the board of directors last night at the Hotel New Penn, and many matters of pressing importance were discussed and acted upon.

Quite a few fans availed themselves of the opportunity yesterday of getting a squint at the 1951 team and came away impressed with what they saw.

Complete Plans For Horse Show

Members of the Lawrence County Saddle club held their bimonthly meeting Wednesday evening, April 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. McKibben, R. D. 4.

During the business meeting, conducted by Elmer Perdue, president, three new members were taken into the club, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Platt of New Wilmington and Miss Jean Kroesen of New Castle.

Chairman of the show committee, Ed. McKibben, reported that plans for the horse show to be held June 2 are now complete. The show will be held at the club grounds, under the sponsorship of the Shenango volunteer fire department.

Next regular meeting of the club will be held May 5 at the club grounds, rear of Deshon Annex, when work on the field will begin.

Curt Simmons To Pitch Sunday

CAMP ATTERBURY, Ind., April 18—(INS) — Cpl. Curt Simmons, southpaw hurler who won 17 games for the Philadelphia Phillies last season, will be the starting pitcher when the 28th Division opens its schedule against a city league team in Indianapolis Sunday.

Baseball is strictly a part-time activity for the 28th team. Each man puts in full military training each day before reporting for baseball practice.

The coach, Lt. Eugene M. Haas of Biglerville, Pa., plans to follow Simmons on the mound Sunday with Pvt. Bob Millikan, Brooklyn Dodger farmhand, and Cpl. Charley Bicknell, another Philly moundsman.

Battlefield Will Not Run In Derby

NEW YORK, April 19—(INS)—The Kentucky Derby will be run without one of its top winter-line favorites.

Battlefield, one of the foremost candidates for three-year-old honors, was withdrawn from the race yesterday by his owner, George D. Widener.

Trainer Bert Mulholland said the the colt has not trained satisfactorily and suggested a rest.

Seniors Take Slight Lead In Track Meet

Seniors and Juniors go into day's final portion of the intra-class track meet with only one-half a point separating them, with the Seniors holding the extra half point.

First day's results find the Seniors with 51½ points, Juniors 51, and Sophomores 18½.

Several good marks were posted in the events, though the times and distances as a whole did not approach record levels.

John Sansone's winning heave of 151 ft. 5 in. in the javelin topped the best effort achieved by any Cane last season. Bill Buckner's 14.1 sec. in the low hurdles also beat any winning mark of last year's squad, and the Junior teams 880-relay time of 1:41.2 came within two tenths of a second of tieing last year's best mark.

Other first place winners were Ray Fabian in the 100-yard dash, Chuck Sampson in the mile, Ron Bailey in the 440-yard dash, Jack Fassinger in the discus and Merle Reed in the high jump.

High hurdles, 880-yard run, 220-yard dash, mile relay, shot put and broad jump are scheduled for today.

Bratton Scores Technical Kayo

DETROIT, April 19.—(INS)—Welterweight Champion Johnny Bratton punched out an easy fourth round technical knockout victory last night over Don Williams of Worcester, Mass., in Detroit's Olympia.

The newly-crowned National Boxing Association titleholder opened a cut over Williams' left eye in the first round and deepened the gash in the third. He took all three frames by wide margins.

He is slope-shouldered, boggle-kneed, undersized and not very fast with his so-called "quick" one. But 23-year-old Marvin Rothblatt is definitely to be reckoned with in the baseball plans of the Chicago White Sox this year.

Hornets-Barnos Battle Tonight

Hornets Seeking To Deadlock Series

CLEVELAND, April 19.—(INS)—The recharged Cleveland Barons wii ibe battling for their fifth American Hockey league championship tonight against the Pittsburg Hornets, who have yet to win a league title.

The Barons lead the Hornets by three games to two, and a victory tonight in Cleveland would give them the A. H. L. crown.

After etraining two games to one, the Barons whipped the Hornets twice in a row at Pittsburgh to regain their pre-playoff role as favorites.

Change Tactics

Coach Fred "Bun" Cook's swtich in tactics and the Barons' better physical condition were mainly responsible for the team's comeback.

Cook told his boys to forget stickhandling and meet the Hornets at their own style of play—throw the puck into the opponents' rink and swarm in after it.

If the Hornets should win tonight and deadlock the series at three games apiece, the final game will be held Saturday night in Cleveland.

Yankees And Indians Win With Brilliant Pitching Wednesday

By HOWARD SIGMAND
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, April 19.—The New York Yankees and the Cleveland Indians have proof today that ptiching is a team's best friend—when it's good and their own.

A possible indication of things to come in the American league race may be gathered from the fact that both the Yankees and the Indians have won their first two games against Hardy foes, on the strength of some brilliant hurling.

The Bombers stilled the unexplainable Boston Red Sox 6 to 1 yesterday as lefty Ed Lopat limited the Bosockers to just two singles.

Indians Win

Cleveland made it two in a row over the Detroit Tigers when Early Wynn tamed the Bengals 4 to 2 in ten innings with a four-hit job.

On opening day Vic Raschi held the Red Sox to six singles in blanking them 5 to 0. That makes a total of one run and eight singles picked up against Yankee pitching by the so-called Fenway Flairlers.

Washington's Senators came up with three runs in the ninth inning to down the Philadelphia Athletics 6 to 4 in a night game. It was the Nats second straight win over the A's and the victory was credited to starter Bob Kuzava, who got help in the ninth from Mickey Harris.

The Chicago White Sox-St. Louis Browns night game was rained out.

Dodgers Top Phils

Jim Konstanty's 1951 relief debut was marred by the Brooklyn Dodgers who scored two runs in the ninth inning to top the Philadelphia Phillies 4 to 3. Big Jim had been rushed to the rescue of Bubba Church.

The Boston Braves evened things up with the New York Giants when a three-run homer by Sam Jethroe in the ninth brought the Beantowners an 8 to 5 victory.

The other National league teams were not scheduled.

Manager Al Lopez says Doby will take over as the best centerfielder in the American league this summer. "Joe DiMaggio is thinking about retiring next year while Larry is just at his peak. Doby can hit with power and run, field and throw with the best," Lopez says.

Knickerbockers Deadlock Series

Final Game At Rochester Saturday

NEW YORK, April 19—(INS)—The New York Knickerbockers and the Rochester Royals are deadlocked at three games apiece today in their playoff battle for the National Basketball Association championship.

The Knicks forced the best-of-seven playoffs into the final game by whipping the Royals, 80 to 73 last night in New York.

The final game will be played in Rochester Saturday night.

Last night's win was the third straight for the Knicks in the see-saw playoffs. Rochester had copped the first three games.

Max Zaslofsky led the Knickerbockers with 23 points.

It is estimated that there are a million filters in each kidney.

George Lawrence had three hits for Union. Only extra base hits of the game were doubles by Bruce Bingham and Yarletts.

Score by Innings:	R.	H.	E.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

DURING the Tuesday night meeting of the Lawrence County Sportsman's Association in Ecclesian hall, Maurice Nielsen, general chairman, and his aides, reported to members that the association's banquet last Thursday evening was a financial success. Members voted to rear an additional 500 pheasant chicks, which makes 3,100 now being raised until they are 12 weeks old, when they will be released in rural districts. Fishermen reported that conditions so far since April 15 have not been conducive to good trout catches. . . . Lawrence County Council of Sportsmen will be the guests of Mahoning Sportsman's association Friday night in the Hillsville public school. All affiliated clubs are urged to have their delegates present as business of importance is to be transacted, according to Joe Kraynak, public relations agent. . . . "Doc" Horner had a good dinner recently but he missed catching the limit of Rainbow trout at Ward's ranch. He had five in his creel when Dick Roberts bellowed: "Dinner's ready." Horner left the lake to eat but when he returned to fish, results were nil. He traveled along the Slippery Rock creek yesterday in quest of Brownies. . . . When a youth is taught by an experienced gunner how to handle a gun, he becomes imbued with "safety first". Education is better than legislation when safety is concerned. . . . When a man speaks in public he should never tell a risque story or employ alleged witticism to embarrass anyone. The moment he does, the speaker loses his hold on an audience. . . . Hill Prince, the American champion race horse of 1950, goes into this year's race season with one of the top records in modern racing. In 22 starts the colt has been in the the money 22 times.

—o—

TO TROUTERS: George Harvey, the Penn State expert who introduced a course in fly-tying and fly-casting at State College, says it is utter nonsense to fish a stream with anything but "live bait" when the temperature reading of the water is under 40 degrees. . . . Superstition: Jockey Logan Batcheller refuses to ride in a race unless he has a four-leaf clover in his cap. This reminds Here and There that the late Jimmie Dime was superstitious. He always wore the same sweater and cap while seconding fighters, and Battling Terry, who was given a necktie by an English actress for good luck, always wore it to a fight scene. The first night he failed to wear the tie, he was defeated. . . . To win the Tri-County Women's Circuit title, the Elliott Steelers must perk up. They're in third place. . . . Jake Perelman's hobby is fishing. While trouting he works hard and covers miles of stream. Years ago his fishin' companion was the late "Cricket" Wysner who seemed to be able to smell where trout lurked, which recalls Here and There seeing the late Ted Mayne catch fish with his hands in Muddy Creek. Ted and Hank Murphy were two of the best turtle catchers in the state. They felt for 'em. . . . Harkening back Joe Johnson and C. Ed. Smith 1 were notable fishermen, while the late Perry Green always knew where a nice catch could be made in any stream. When a boy, Hugh McCormick of Harlansburg had no trouble catching a string that hung down his back and Chauncey Campbell relates that when he was a bare-foot boy fish were as plentiful in the Slippery Rock Creek as baseballs are in a major league team's sack.

—o—

SONNY HOWLEY, who was in WW2, is working in the Washington, D. C., postoffice. . . . George Barrett, veteran fisherman, is feeling rather pert these days and no doubt will give the streams a big play this summer. . . . Some fishermen were seen in a rowboat in the Shenango river at Harbor bridge, probably fishing for carp, Tuesday afternoon. . . . Ex-high stars of Wampum who will banquet along the Wampum-Koppel highway, April 28 evening, are scattered Here and There, but always manage to return for the annual get-together, according to Tommy Newman of Ellwood City. . . . No Wampumites were more famous as ball players than the Blythes. . . . Hub Wilson, of the stock exchange, is a rabid fight and mat fan. . . . Here's a good investment: Harrison E. Hoyt, owner of Demon Hanover, the trotter, bought the colt for $2,600. Already the six-year-old has won $138,950. Joe Rick would be in ecstasy if he had this luck. However, year before last, J.R.'s pacers and trotters won him three grand, which isn't hay. . . . Hockey league playoffs make little sense but do make cents. For instance, a team goes along all season and wins its loop crown then goes into the playoffs and is defeated, which proves the best team doesn't always win the title. However, the promotions pay off. . . . George Chip, former middleweight champion, has a miniature boxing glove, made out of a gold nugget presented to him when he boxed in Australia.

Harlansburg P.T.A. Assembles Tonight

An interesting program and an election of officers have been planned for the meeting this evening of the Harlansburg P.T.A.

Mrs. Brandon, dietician at the Jameson Memorial hospital, will discuss "Nutrition" and show a film.

Mrs. Lucille Hunt, County Council president, will discuss the purpose of P.T.A., followed by a talk on the Boy Scouts by Mr. Pearce. Special music will be provided by the high school pupils.

New unit officers will be elected during the evening. Plans will be made for a paper drive to be held June 5.

Manhattan college, New York university and St. John's have all agreed to play in the Garden next season. They issued a joint statement recently absolving the big arena from the "unclean, unclean" tag placed on it by the still-exploding hoop mess.

Umpires Association Will Meet Friday

Lawrence County Umpires association will meet Friday, April 20, at eight p. m. at the Y. M. C. A., it is announced by Joseph Panella, secretary. All members are urged to attend this meeting.

Al Morrelli has been elected assigner for the occasion. Members of the association will handle Westminster home games, it is announced.

Isolation Home Is Now Open To County Patients

Lawrence county tuberculosis isolation home is now open, ready to admit patients suffering from tuberculosis, it was announced today by Mrs. Jane M. Cochran, executive secretary of the board of trustees.

The home was open for public inspection April 9, and final preparations for admitting patients have now been completed.

The Jameson hospital and the New Castle hospital have been advised by Mrs. Jessie M. Stenger, chairman of the board of trustees, to contact Dr. D. L. Perry, head of the Pennsylvania state clinic, or the Tuberculosis society, when a patient is found to be suffering from tubereulosis. However, a patient must be listed for sanitorium care before necessary arrangements will be taken to admit the patient tn the home.

All physicians in Lawrence county, including Ellwood City, will be notified regarding the proper procedure of having a patient admitted.

Those listed incorrectly on the April 9 reception committee have been corrected and are: J. Nelson Runyan, Andrew Dodds and Charles Morrow.

Union High Will Present Plays On Friday, April 27

Two senior class plays will be presented during the senior program of Union high school Friday evening, April 27, in the school auditorium.

They are "We Shook the Family Tree", dramatized by Perry Clark and adapted from the book by Hildegard Dolson, and "Thursday's At Home", a farce by Mae Howley Barry. The curtain will go up at 8:15 o'clock.

"We Shook the Family Tree" is a three-act comedy that insures a shower of laughs when you shake the family tree. This bright comedy is one of the best ever and plays like a house afire. The action is rapid and the roles are engaging and the lines are funny enough to keep the audience laughing.

Revolves Around Hildegarde

The story revolves around Hildegarde who desperately tries to attract the attention for an eligible senior to take her to the prom. She wins the school debate with an impassioned plea against drinking, but instead of convincing any eligible male, has complicated the family tree by giving the illusion that her father is a drunkard. Sympathetic murmurs are heard about, and then Mama comes into the picture trying to get her daughter a date with Freddie. Freddie is the son of papa's boss—and the complications and triangles that follow all lead to several hours of hearty laughter. However, Hildegarde's (and Freddie's) problems are solved satisfactorily and with such merriment that it will keep those who see it chuckling for days.

"Thursday's At Home" is the delightful story about Maybelle who believes that women should be kinder to agents. Thursday is the day that she receives them. The deluge—and fun—begins when all types of agents call and Maybelle becomes harried. The agents don't go and the plot gets funnier until Maybelle's housekeeper strides in and settles things.
